Unit description

Can various experiences, practices and perspectives of a culture tell us something unique about that culture? This project-based unit seeks to promote a greater awareness of, and engagement with, lived experiences in the broad context of the intersection of language, culture and society. It focuses on helping students broaden their appreciation of aspects of intercultural life and practices as well as sites of meaning in a culturally and linguistically specific environment. Through a semi-guided project, students will be encouraged to explore one aspect of intercultural life in the Australian context by collecting and analysing community-relevant factual data.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Design and conduct a project-based activity in an intercultural context within and outside the university environment.

ULO2: Collate, analyse and evaluate data collected during intercultural encounters.

ULO3: Communicate a targeted aspect of language specific cultural life to peers, teachers and the public using written, oral and/or digital media in a detailed and comprehensive manner.

Find out more about the Coronavirus \(COVID-19\) and potential impacts on staff and students

General Assessment Information

Marking guides and exemplars, together with further information about assessment tasks will be provided in iLearn.

All assessment tasks are compulsory and must be submitted on time. Tasks handed in early will not be marked and returned before the due date.

Assessment tasks must be uploaded into iLearn via Turnitin.

1. Project Plan

Write a project plan (no prescribed word length) in which you:

Describe from start to finish a small project-based activity that aims to illuminate one of the ways in which different societies and cultures interact in the Australian context.

Your research topic area is:

How are aspects of a foreign culture represented through language and social/cultural practices in the local Australian context?

- Formulate a specific and comprehensive language-focused project question. It might be helpful to ask yourself the general question: What can various experiences, practices and perspectives of a culture – linguistic and/or social-cultural – tell us about that culture?
- Before commencing your project, you MUST gain approval for your research question from your supervisor. You must contact your supervisor via email or in person to gain approval by the start of Week 2.
- Keep in mind that the purpose of your intercultural project is to discover and not to prove.

2. Presentation

Present your project, findings and conclusions to fellow students and academics in week 9 in the form of a PPT presentation. The focus will be on the content of your study as well as on clear and effective delivery. Be prepared to engage with the audience and to respond to any questions that they may raise.

Please note that this presentation needs to be in English so that you can share your insights with fellow students.

3. Report

Write a report (of 2000 to 2500 words: includes all quotations and references, but not the bibliography), in which you collate, analyse and evaluate data collected during intercultural encounters. You need to discuss the language with your supervisor. Take into account the feedback received from your presentation. Consult the Report Instructions and Marking Guide provided.

Late Assessment Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

Special Consideration Policy

All assessment tasks are compulsory and must be submitted on time. Students unable to meet due dates must apply for 'Special Consideration' via ask.mq.edu.
