Unit description

In this unit, students will have the opportunity to investigate a specific research issue in their domain of choice within accessible communication. They can focus their research investigation in either Accessibility and Second language teaching, Accessibility and Intercultural Communication, Accessibility and Translation & Interpreting, Accessibility and Editing & Publishing, or Accessibility and Disability Studies as an extension of their initial proposal in their Research Methods unit. This unit enables students to survey current studies in their choice of research topic and conduct an empirical research study.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Assess the appropriateness of a research proposal with focused research questions and methodology.

ULO2: Demonstrate familiarity with the literature of a specific domain in the field of accessible communication.

ULO3: Critically analyse research problems in one of the five possible areas of accessible communication within the program.

ULO4: Discuss, analyse, and communicate findings of accessible communication research.

ULO5: Demonstrate an understanding of appropriate research methodology and apply it in an extended research project on an area in accessible communication.
