Unit description

The principal aim of this unit is to provide students with an understanding of the myriad of ethical issues and dilemmas faced by leaders in corporate, not-for-profit or government sectors. Issues explored will relate both to the society and environment within which organisations and their leaders operate, and to individuals employed within organisations. The unit has a strong research focus and students will apply the theoretical knowledge gained in the course to real-world situations. This will equip them to engage with the complex ethical issues that will inevitably arise during the course of their careers.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Identify and describe a range of ethical theories and CSR frameworks.

ULO2: Critically engage with and synthesise the scholarly literature of business ethics and social responsibility.

ULO3: Investigate the issues organisational leaders and their followers face, both as an individual and as part of a team.

ULO4: Employ reflective analysis to evaluate own and others' contribution to solving business leadership issues.
