Unit description

Coaching is a relatively new and rapidly expanding approach to achieving rapid and lasting change. It has been enthusiastically embraced by practitioners, organisations and individuals and is used by coaching, organisational, clinical, health and counselling psychologists. This unit introduces students to the key theories and research underpinning coaching and positive psychology. It differentiates coaching from counselling, therapy and mentoring. Topics covered include the basics of motivational interviewing, the developmental pipeline, coaching micro-skills, ethical issues as they relate to coaching, the use of positive psychology in coaching, and coaching throughout the career span. Students interested in vocational counselling, leadership coaching, or employee coaching would find this unit useful.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Demonstrate the ability to identify at which stage of the developmental pipeline a coaching client is restricted.

ULO2: Demonstrate the ability to develop a coaching plan for a coachee.

ULO3: Explain the role of coaching across the employee lifecycle.

ULO4: Use critical analysis skills to determine the relevance of particular coaching approaches to different clients.

ULO5: Demonstrate the interpersonal and communication skills necessary for coaching.

Assessment Tasks

Coronavirus (COVID-19) Update

Assessment details are no longer provided here as a result of changes due to the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

Students should consult iLearn for revised unit information.

Delivery and Resources

Coronavirus (COVID-19) Update

Any references to on-campus delivery below may no longer be relevant due to COVID-19. Please check here for updated delivery information: https://ask.mq.edu.au/account/pub/display/unit_status

Classes will involve on-line demonstrations, on-line lectures, and three whole day workshops involving group discussions, case studies, and other learning activities. Students are expected to listen to online lectures, attend workshops, read the compulsory material and assignments as described in this outline and elsewhere.

In addition to reading set papers, students are encouraged to read other journal articles. This will be valuable for developing knowledge, and essential for completing assessment tasks.

Assessment activities and feedback opportunities

The development of core competencies will be evaluated using two forms of assessment, as indicated. In addition to assessment tasks, it will be expected that you will read assigned articles in preparation for class, perform any additional assigned tasks, and participate actively in class discussions and other class exercises.

Policies and Procedures

Macquarie University policies and procedures are accessible from Policy Central (https://staff.m.q.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policy-central). Students should be aware of the following policies in particular with regard to Learning and Teaching:
