Unit description

This unit will cover a range of key topics critical to good research practice in Medical Sciences. Presented by lecturers from the various disciplines represented in the faculty, the unit will focus on good research practice, ethics, fundamentals of different research approaches, and research reproducibility. You will explore how best to pose questions, design and deliver their research, with a strong emphasis on integrity, leadership, and cultural competence. The focus will be on the principles that underlie effective research in all disciplines of health systems, clinical and biomedical research. This unit is recommended to all students wishing to pursue robust and high quality research.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Describe good practice in Medical Research, including ethics, integrity and leadership.

ULO2: Explain the fundamentals of different research types and approaches.

ULO3: Pose effective research questions, and describe key components in research design.

ULO4: Critique different methodologies that might be applied to address research questions.

Assessment Tasks

Coronavirus (COVID-19) Update

Assessment details are no longer provided here as a result of changes due to the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

Students should consult iLearn for revised unit information.

Delivery and Resources

Coronavirus (COVID-19) Update

Any references to on-campus delivery below may no longer be relevant due to COVID-19.

Please check here for updated delivery information: https://ask.mq.edu.au/account/pub/display/unit_status

The unit will be delivered on Tuesdays between 12 Noon and 4 PM, with a series of lectures, tutorials and workshops. There are no set texts, but preparatory material will be circulated prior to the face to face sessions (via iLearn), and most lecture slides will be available after the class (if not before). You will need access to a computer to write assignments and make posters and presentations, and you should, where possible, bring a laptop to class.
