Unit description

This unit provides students with an introduction to theoretical and empirical research approaches informed by qualitative methods of inquiry within the business and economics discipline. It seeks to develop students' understanding of the contexts in which qualitative research can be undertaken, and the ability to analyse, conduct, and evaluate qualitative forms of research.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Explain the role of research philosophy in selecting suitable research methods for a particular study

ULO2: Consider the relative advantages and disadvantages of a diverse range of qualitative research methods used in management research in developing a research

design

ULO3: Address any ethics issues that may arise as part of a research design that involves qualitative methods

ULO4: Conduct qualitative research using a basic understanding of different coding strategies, and a range of typical qualitative methods

ULO5: Develop a basic research proposal based qualitative methods that links the suitability of the proposed method to the nature of the research question, as well as the relative advantages and disadvantages of the proposed method
