Unit description

Since the eighteenth century Enlightenment philosophers have predicted that religion would vanish as capitalism, science and state separation from religion progressed. To some extent this has happened in some European countries, but, on the whole, the 'secularisation thesis' has not come true. Not only is religion still with us, but in many regions of the world it has grown and its impact has become more intense. This unit examines the nature of the relationship between religion and politics by analysing the history of political thought, as well as recent developments in global and national politics.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: analyse and express arguments about the relationship between religion and politics in oral and written form.

ULO2: show familiarity with, and critically interpret, some classic and contemporary texts on the relationship between religion and politics.

ULO3: form a critical and systematic argument about concepts related to politics and religion, including secularism and secularisation, religious freedom, religious nationalism, religious pluralism, and civil religion.

ULO4: collaborate effectively to produce negotiated statements on questions to do with religion and politics.

ULO5: articulate a reasoned response to contemporary controversies about religion and politics in the light of the controversies' broader philosophical and historical contexts.

Assessment Tasks

Coronavirus (COVID-19) Update

Assessment details are no longer provided here as a result of changes due to the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

Students should consult iLearn for revised unit information.

Find out more about the Coronavirus \(COVID-19\) and potential impacts on staff and students

General Assessment Information

Late Assessment Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

Delivery and Resources

Coronavirus (COVID-19) Update

Any references to on-campus delivery below may no longer be relevant due to COVID-19.

Please check here for updated delivery information: https://ask.mq.edu.au/account/pub/display/unit\_status

This Unit has an internal version and an external version. Internal students should attend all lectures, and tutorials as specified in the tutorial program (explained in Week 1). If you are unable to attend lectures and tutorials regularly, please enrol as an external student.

External students should listen to the lectures online, and participate in the online tutorial program (explained in Week 1).

All students should complete the readings, provided in the "Leganto" block in the iLearn site, and the assessment tasks set out above.
