Unit description

This unit introduces students to the disciplines of translation and interpreting studies. It provides an overview of the chronological evolution of theories and their application to translation and interpreting practice. Theories relevant to translation practice are discussed, focusing on linguistic theories, functionalist theories, and discourse-based approaches. The overview of interpreting theory covers equivalence, comprehension, issues relating to language proficiency, and interpreting processes in diverse modes. The various approaches adopted in the unit aim to broaden students' perspectives on translation and interpreting.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Demonstrate an understanding of the nature and role of theory.

ULO2: Demonstrate familiarity with a range of theories relevant to translation and interpreting.

ULO3: Reflect on the relevance of translation and interpreting theories.

ULO4: Apply theoretical knowledge to translation and interpreting tasks.

ULO5: Communicate theoretical concepts orally and in writing to a variety of audiences.
