Unit description

This unit develops theoretical understandings and leadership skills in education contexts supporting the development of new teachers. It draws on national and international literature in areas such as pre-service professional experience, induction, certification, retention and mentoring to develop a sound theoretical framework for critical reflection on current practice in schools and other education workplaces. Assessment tasks are designed to enhance the workplace capacity of participants.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Identify and describe the nature and scope of the policies, strategies, programs and practices in supporting new teacher development in education contexts

ULO2: Apply knowledge about a range of policies, strategies, programs and/or practices in schools and other education workplaces supporting new teacher development

ULO3: Critically reflect on the application of perspectives on new teacher development to policy and program improvement in your own jurisdiction and/or workplace

ULO4: Construct a plan for the improvement of an aspect of practice in supporting new teacher development that is justified with reference to the research literature and relevant to the context of your school/workplace/organisation and/or jurisdiction
