Unit description
The increasingly globalised and competitive market environment, together with technological disruption, has led to a shift of market power from organisations to customers. Maintaining profit and market share in this environment has necessitated organisations adopting strategies that place greater emphasis on customers and developing relationships with them. In this unit, students will apply knowledge to develop strategies supporting the initiation, maintenance and progression of relationships with customers. Further, students will learn to compare and contrast potential CRM strategies available to organisations operating in diverse contexts. Students will also learn to critically analyse organisations' CRM technologies and systems and provide suggestions for improvements.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://students.mq.edu.au/important-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Develop strategies supporting the initiation, maintenance and progression of relationships with customers
ULO2: Critique the operationalisation and use of CRM strategies in diverse contexts
ULO3: Justify firms' use of CRM technologies and systems and recommend best-
Assessment Tasks

Coronavirus (COVID-19) Update

Assessment details are no longer provided here as a result of changes due to the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

Students should consult iLearn for revised unit information.

Find out more about the Coronavirus (COVID-19) and potential impacts on staff and students.

General Assessment Information

Late assessment submissions must also be submitted through the appropriate submission link in iLearn. No extensions will be granted unless an application for Special Consideration is made and approved. There will be a deduction of 10% of the total available marks made from the total awarded mark for each 24 hour period or part thereof that the submission is late. Late submissions will not be accepted after solutions have been discussed and/or made available.

Note: applications for Special Consideration Policy must be made within 5 (five) business days of the due date and time.

Changes from Previous Offering

The changes from the previous offering are mainly in assessment as below;

The class test assessment in week 5 (20%) has been removed and replaced by a multi-media presentation in Week 4 (30%)

The case study report in Week 13 (40%) has been replaced by 4 in-class case studies (30%). Students will be assessed on their contribution to class discussion on these case studies (best 3 out of 4 marks will count)
