Unit description

This unit is designed to introduce students to the management consulting sector and to enable them to confidently use the practice and processes of management consulting in the context of working on a specific, identified business issue for a client. The unit is designed to enable participants to assume the role of consultants to management and presents an experiential learning opportunity in a 'real world' situation. As such the unit is structured so that participants develop creative results-oriented solutions to the issue(s) faced by the client.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Apply relevant frameworks and models to analyse key data and produce a range of solutions that address the client's engagement brief.

ULO2: Research and synthesise complex business data in reference to the identified business problem, both as an individual and as a member of a group.

ULO3: Assess, reflect and respond appropriately to a range of issues and perceptions with a view to influencing people with views that may be different to their own.
