Unit description

Human resources planning or workforce planning is the process of anticipating and developing strategies to address prospective changes to workforce need and workforce supply. It may inform the development of plans for; recruitment, succession, education and training, demand or customer management, productivity and workloads, workforce retention and workforce diversity. The topics the unit covers include; methods of summarising workforce data; sources of workforce data; recent changes in national workforces for Australia and internationally; methods of population and workforce projection; workforce planning processes; assessing workforce need and supply; developing workforce plans; international migration, recruitment and workforce cultural diversity; methods of planning education and training; workforce gender balance issues; and workforce ageing issues.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Evaluate sources of demographic, labour force and economic data and apply methods of summarising workforce data.

ULO2: Critically evaluate the implications of recent population and workforce trends for human resources planning and organisational sustainability.

ULO3: Apply advanced technical skills to prepare a range of types of projections used in workforce planning.

General Assessment Information

Late Assessments must also be submitted through Turnitin. No extensions will be granted. There will be a deduction of 10% of the total available marks made from the total awarded mark for each 24 hour period or part thereof that the submission is late (for example, 25 hours late in submission incurs a 40% penalty). Late submissions will be accepted up to 96 hours after the due date and time.

This penalty does not apply for cases in which an application for Special Consideration is made and approved. Note: applications for Special Consideration Policy must be made within 5 (five) business days of the due date and time.
