Unit description

This unit is a Capstone for the Master of Applied Economics. It is designed to create a bridge between the knowledge and skills acquired in the course, and the broader society, including business and government. The unit attempts to provide students with a practical understanding of how theories, methods and knowledge of economics can be relied upon to understand and solve issues in the real world. The unit is primarily based on a specific economic project chosen from the students' own business or social environment. Students work in teams to nominate a problem, and to undertake appropriate research and analysis so as to ultimately propose solutions. The scope of the economic project can be microeconomics or macroeconomics; this will depend on the nature of the chosen problem, and the theories and techniques selected in response.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Apply advanced knowledge of key economic ideas to the problems faced by economic decision makers.

ULO2: Integrate and synthesise learning in order to critically reflect upon complex economic issues and evaluate established knowledge.

ULO3: Effectively communicate complex economic ideas and solutions to specialist and non-specialist audiences.

ULO4: Interpret and apply ethical dimension of business practice to economic and policy decision choices.

ULO5: Collaborate with peers to prepare and present research findings on current real-world issues.

General Assessment Information

Team work is an integral part of the Unit. You are required to be part of a team, actively participating in the discovery, development and completion of the team project. Teams will be formed in the first two weeks of Session.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Research project proposal	40%	No	Week 6
Presentation	20%	No	Week 12 & 13
Research project	40%	No	Week 13

Research project proposal

Assessment Type ¹: Presentation

Indicative Time on Task ²: 21 hours

Due: Week 6

Weighting: 40%

The research project proposal, due in week 6, consists of two parts. Part A, worth 25%, is an essay-style proposal of a chosen topic which will include background, relevance and impact. Part B, worth 15%, is a 3 minute pitch followed by a Q&A defence of the proposal.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Apply advanced knowledge of key economic ideas to the problems faced by economic decision makers.
- Integrate and synthesise learning in order to critically reflect upon complex economic issues and evaluate established knowledge.
- Effectively communicate complex economic ideas and solutions to specialist and non-specialist audiences.
- Interpret and apply ethical dimension of business practice to economic and policy decision choices.

Presentation

Assessment Type ¹: Presentation

Indicative Time on Task ²: 15 hours

Due: Week 12 & 13

Weighting: 20%

Formal presentations will take place in weeks 12 and 13. Students present the findings of their group project. However, students will be assessed based on their individual presentation of their assigned section.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Apply advanced knowledge of key economic ideas to the problems faced by economic decision makers.
- Integrate and synthesise learning in order to critically reflect upon complex economic issues and evaluate established knowledge.
- Effectively communicate complex economic ideas and solutions to specialist and non-specialist audiences.

Research project

Assessment Type ¹: Essay

Indicative Time on Task ²: 25 hours

Due: Week 13

Weighting: 40%

The 3,500-word report will provide an analysis of the chosen topic based on existing literature. Students are expected to work in groups to offer a critique of the theories and methods employed for these analyses and propose solutions to problems and issues encountered in their chosen area. The group report will be due in Week 13.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Apply advanced knowledge of key economic ideas to the problems faced by economic decision makers.
- Integrate and synthesise learning in order to critically reflect upon complex economic issues and evaluate established knowledge.
- Effectively communicate complex economic ideas and solutions to specialist and non-specialist audiences.
- Interpret and apply ethical dimension of business practice to economic and policy decision choices.

- Collaborate with peers to prepare and present research findings on current real-world issues.

¹ If you need help with your assignment, please contact:

- the academic teaching staff in your unit for guidance in understanding or completing this type of assessment
- the Writing Centre for academic skills support.

² Indicative time-on-task is an estimate of the time required for completion of the assessment task and is subject to individual variation

Delivery and Resources

Group Learning:

There will be a weekly virtual lecture via Zoom/Live Chat. The link will be provided on iLearn prior to the scheduled lecture time. This is then followed by a break-out Zoom team meeting. This course is project-based, with little reliance on a common textbook or set of readings. As such, Zoom attendance (and other synchronous interaction) is paramount to the successful completion of this Unit. Projects will be based on a common industry, pre-selected by the industry participant.

The Unit is organised into three blocks of webinars/meetings covering: 1. research and discovery; 2. discussions around project appropriate theoretical and methodological approaches; and, 3. preparation and presentation of the research projects.

Individual Learning:

You are expected to research and read papers relevant to your project, read assigned theoretical and methodological articles to deepen your knowledge of tools necessary for your project, as well as actively participate in the preparation and presentation of the final report.

Policies and Procedures
