Unit description

Reading across cultures and languages enables intercultural understanding. This Unit offers students intercultural perspectives on the study of literature and translation across Asian and European languages. It introduces students to the history and theory of literatures beyond national, linguistic and cultural borders. Students will learn to interpret these literatures by applying relevant literary theories to them. They will interrogate the concept of cultural translation by considering what is at stake in the translation of texts across languages and related cultures. In practical terms, students will then consider the choices made when translating literary texts by reading case studies and through their own creative translation practice. Lectures will be delivered in English. Tutorials will be offered in English, or may include activities offered in the languages taught in International Studies.

Delivery and Resources

Delivery:

Day, External - Online

This unit will use:

iLearn, Echo360.

Students must have regular access to a reliable internet connection, and intermediate computer skills including audio recording, file upload, and online communication etiquette.

Mobile devices alone are not sufficient as you will require a desktop or laptop computer for some tasks, ideally with a browser that supports Flash and npapi (Java) (now not supported by CHROME).

For technical support go to: http://mq.edu.au/about\_us/offices\_and\_units/information\_technology/help

For student quick guides on the use of iLearn and iLearn tools (e.g. assignment submission and feedback, accessing results) go to: http://mq.edu.au/iLearn/student\_info/guides.htm

Required resources:

This unit does not use a required textbook. Instead, weekly readings will be made available on iLearn.

Recommended:

Developing good dictionary skills is beneficial, especially for the translation aspect of this unit. We recommend getting acquainted with websites like www.wordreference.com and www.linguee.com. Google Translate and similar machine translation tools are not adequate dictionaries for rendering legible translations, and their extended use will be considered plagiarism for the effects of the translation tasks in the unit. Such tools omit context, don't give functional examples of language in use, and often provide the wrong word if the student doesn't know what they are looking for (e.g. nouns instead of verbs).

Times and Locations

Recorded weekly lectures on ILearn

For seminars please consult the MQ Timetables Website: <http://www.timetables.mq.edu.au>
