Unit description

This unit provides scholarly and embodied knowledge of some of the major theatre and performance practices of the 20th and 21st centuries. Students also consider the ways in which they perform themselves in daily social exchanges and think critically about performance in their everyday lives. Teaching is in both lecture and workshop format with the opportunity for students to devise and present their own performance. Prior performing arts experience is not required.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: evaluate developments in contemporary performance practices in terms of the everyday.

ULO2: apply theoretical modes of understanding to practical performance making.

ULO3: prepare and produce practical experiments while developing communication skills.

ULO4: apply critical evaluation skills through practical experiments and projects.
