Unit description The goals of this unit will be to help students refine their understanding of theory and skills, and to stimulate their ability to reflect on the practice of counselling. The unit will emphasise the ingredients of the effective counselling practitioner, highlighting the overarching importance of the client-therapist relationship within the context of the self of the counsellor. Emphasis will also be placed on diversity and the ethics of effective practice.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Demonstrate advanced questioning skills in a counselling context

ULO2: Articulate theoretical constructs related to counselling practice around emotion, empathy and the therapeutic relationship

ULO3: Develop self-awareness, and the ability as to how this knowledge would enhance the therapeutic relationship.

ULO4: Show working knowledge on counselling effectiveness with clients from diverse populations including race, ethnicity, age, gender sexuality, disability, and social class

ULO5: Apply critical thinking and independent learning to solve ethical dilemmas within a counselling setting

General Assessment Information

Attendance at tutorials is compulsory in order to achieve a Pass grade or higher in this unit. For 2020 tutorials will be conducted using a "hybrid" approach, where some will be online (tutorial attendance via Zoom) and some will be on campus. Tutorial participation is essential to the learning outcomes of this unit. Live demonstrations and role-modelling will be used to teach the practical application of the counselling skills covered in this unit. You can only attend the tutorial you are enrolled in and you will not be allowed to attend any other tutorial due to Occupational Health and Safety Policy Laws. Students are expected to be present for the entirety of the tutorial session. The material covered in tutorials will not be posted on iLearn nor given to students in any form. Thus it is the student's responsibility to attend tutorials and to take notes on the material covered.

If students miss a tutorial, it is University Policy that students MUST make a Request for Special Consideration through <https://ask.mq.edu.au/> with appropriate documentation (e.g., medical certificates etc). To be eligible for Special Consideration, a student must notify the University of a serious and unavoidable disruption no later than 15 working days of the due date (see University Policy <https://staff.mq.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policies/disruption-to-studies>). Please note that the 15 day policy is a temporary change from the usual 5 day policy due to COVID.

Assessment Tasks
