Session 2 Learning and Teaching Update

The decision has been made to conduct study online for the remainder of Session 2 for all units WITHOUT mandatory on-campus learning activities. Exams for Session 2 will also be online where possible to do so.

This is due to the extension of the lockdown orders and to provide certainty around arrangements for the remainder of Session 2. We hope to return to campus beyond Session 2 as soon as it is safe and appropriate to do so.

Some classes/teaching activities cannot be moved online and must be taught on campus. You should already know if you are in one of these classes/teaching activities and your unit convenor will provide you with more information via iLearn. If you want to confirm, see the list of units with mandatory on-campus classes/teaching activities.

Visit the MQ COVID-19 information page for more detail.

Unit description

Gain an understanding of Greek, Roman and Near-Eastern society and culture through the study of myth. You will begin with the earliest creation myths, explore myths of gods and goddesses, heroes, Amazons, and monsters, and examine the development of myth in both literature and art. The unit is largely based upon Greek and Latin texts in translation as well as the representation of myth in Greek and Roman art. Egyptian, Near-Eastern and biblical texts will also be studied. The unit focuses on the relevance of key themes in myth to the cultures in which the myths were retold, investigating the role of myth in the religious, political and social life of the classical world.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Demonstrate knowledge of the fundamental concepts, principles and theories used in the study of myth and the content of select representative examples of myths from the ancient world.

ULO2: Analyze, synthesize, and evaluate information about myth in the ancient world.

ULO3: Create clear, coherent, evidence-based exposition of knowledge and ideas about myth in the ancient world.

ULO4: Communicate critical and reflective judgements effectively with teaching staff and peers.

General Assessment Information

Assessment Task 1 of 3:

Analysis of a Myth

Due: 23:59 12/9/2021 (= Sunday midnight Week 7)

Weighting: 25%

Length: 1000 words

Every week students will be introduced to a number of myths from ancient Greece, Rome, the ancient Near East (including Egypt), and some myths from the Aboriginal traditions. The myths will be analysed in terms of their cultural context, the genre in which they belong (oral tradition vs written tradition/ epic versus drama/ literature versus historiography), their typology (cosmogonical myths vs ritual myths vs cultural hero myths etc) and as the semester progresses through certain theoretical perspectives (structuralism and post-structuralism, functionalism, phenomenology).

By week 7, both in the lectures and the tutorials students will be exposed to analysing myths based on their cultural context, recognizing their typology and their genre. Our analyses will combine a close reading of the ancient evidence with insights from modern scholarship. By 'modern scholarship' we mean work published in academic journals or monographs. You will find readings suggested for each lecture and tutorial in the ilearn site. In addition to what we refer to as essential readings, there will also be an extended list of works that can be found in the library for your perusal. Do not use general or encyclopedic style websites such as WIKIPEDIA as sources.

For this task, students are asked to analyse a myth of their choice with regard to the myth's cultural context, its typology and/or its genre by referencing the ancient evidence and secondary literature thoroughly.

You are also required to submit a bibliography of all ancient and modern items consulted.

Please refer to the guide to referencing and essay presentation, available on the unit's website.

Submissions which exceed the prescribed length by more than 10% will not be marked.

Submission: Submission is made electronically via the 'assignment' link on the unit's webpage.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- demonstrate knowledge of select representative examples of myths from the ancient world
- demonstrate knowledge of the fundamental concepts and approaches used in the study of myth
- Analyze source material, including ancient sources and modern scholarship; the

critiquing of texts and application of knowledge

- create and communicate evidence based critical and reflective judgements about ancient myths

To Help you with your first task, here are some suggestions for mythic topics to be analysed (feel free to choose a topic of your own):

The quest for immortality in Babylonian and Greek mythology.

Gods and humans in Babylonian and Greek mythology.

Vernant and the role of sacrifice in Greek Mythology.

Myth and memory (Babylonian/Greek/aboriginal)

Pandora: Explaining ancient Greek misogyny

Heracles and the Heroic Archetype in Greek Mythology.

The role of Heracles' parerga in Greek myth

Story Telling in the time of Hesiod. The Theogony a theology.

Polis and Piety: the relation between Athenian Theatre and Athenian politics.

The Underworld before and after the Mysteries of Eleusis.

The role of katabasis in Greek mythology.

The social aspects of Dionysian cult.

Explain the character of Prometheus in Plato's Protagoras.

Young girl interrupted: tracing initiation patterns in the story of [Medea/Electra/ Antigone/ Helen/ Iphigenia].

Defining Alexandrian poetics.

Alexander between Myth and History.

The origins of Greek pastoral poetry.

Where do the similarities between Homer and Vergil stop?

Discuss the Aeneid as a "national" epic.

Ovid as a Silver Age poet.

Explain Herodotus' title as the Father of History.

Ritual and myth in aboriginal communities.

Kingship and Culture (Babylonian/ Greek/Aboriginal).

The value of comparative mythology.

Assessment Task 2 of 3:

Essay

Due: 23:59 31/10/2021 = Sunday midnight Week 12

Weighting: 50%

Length: 2000 words

Write an essay of no more than 2000 words on ONE of the topics below.

Label your work when you submit it in the following way:

§ Number of Question.Surname.Student ID number

§ (eg 4.Smith.9458767)

1. Discuss the extent to which theories of myth provide an explanation for Greek myth. Feel free to focus your essay on structuralism, post-structuralism, functionalism OR phenomenology.
2. Discuss the extent to which Greek mythology was influenced by myths from other cultures.
3. Discuss the extent to which Roman mythology was influenced by myths from other cultures.
4. Ancient Greek myth embraces religion, science and philosophy, in contrast to nowadays tendency to differentiate between these lines of enquiry. Discuss our approach(es) of Greek mythology in relation to the above statement.
5. Discuss the notion of kinship in aboriginal mythology.
6. Discuss the myth of Pandora in light of the ancient Greek view on women.
7. Discuss the main aspects of Babylonian divine kingship.
8. Motifs of cosmogony in aboriginal myths.
9. Death and Afterlife in the Homeric Epics.
10. The Heroic King: Models of Kingship in Homer.
11. Explain the factors that made for Zeus' success in winning and retaining sovereign power in the universe. How secure is Zeus' Olympian order? Discuss with reference to episodes from Hesiod's Theogony.
12. Examine the profile of Zeus as king of the gods in Prometheus Bound.
13. Ancient Greek gods were often attributed human qualities which distance them significantly from nowadays perceptions about the divine. What impact did this have to the sense of piety the ancient Greeks adopted towards their gods?

14. "Monsters exist in order to be killed." Consider this remark in the light of your knowledge of the Odyssey.
15. In the light of some of the stories you have studied consider the significance of trickery and deception in Greek myth. Discuss with reference to famous bearers of these qualities.
16. In the light of some of the stories you have studied consider the significance of eating and swallowing in Greek myth.
17. Ritual patterns in ancient Greek drama: Antigone and Iphigeneia.
18. Compare Heracles and Dionysus as mystery gods. What do their similarities and differences tell us about the ideal Greek man?
19. The role of ritual in aboriginal culture.
20. Analyze rites of passage and discuss their social importance in ancient Greece.
21. Discuss male ritual rites in ancient Greece: from the Black Hunter to Hippolytus
22. Discuss the popularity of the Eleusinian rites in Greek/ Greco-Roman antiquity.
23. Discuss in what ways the legend of Alexander the Great complies with the traditional Greek myths you studied until now.
24. The Romans did not have a mythology of their own, but simply appropriated the Greek traditional stories about gods and heroes. Do you agree with this view?
25. Vergil, Aeneas, and Augustan Propaganda.
26. Discuss Ovid's Metamorphoses: is his work an epic, in your opinion?
27. The use of myth in Ovid's Metamorphoses and the didactic tradition.
28. The use of myth in Plato's philosophy

How to submit your essay

Your essay is to be submitted electronically through the TURNITIN submission link.

Upload your essay through the ESSAY SUBMISSION TURNITIN link in the assessment section on the unit's main page.

For further instructions on how to submit an assignment follow this link:

how to submit a Turnitin assignment

On successful completion you will be able to:

- demonstrate knowledge of select representative examples of myths from the ancient world
- Identify theoretical approaches taken in the study of myth
- Analyze source material, including ancient sources and modern scholarship; the

critiquing of texts and application of knowledge

- create and communicate evidence based critical and reflective judgements about ancient myths
- Synthesize acquired knowledge and understanding to produce a critical analytical essay

Assessment Task 3 of 3

Online Quizzes

Due: 23:59 8/8/2021; 23:59 22/8/2021; 23:59 5/9/2021; 23:59 3/10/2021; 23:59 17/10/2021 (= Sunday midnight of weeks 2, 4, 6, 8, and 10).

Weighting: 5 quizzes x 5% each = 25%

Format/length: each quiz will comprise of 15 multiple choice answers and will be marked automatically. The quizzes are timed.

These are short online quizzes on the material covered in the lecture topics. Access to each quiz is through the unit's website. You may take the quizzes at any time during the specific week, but you may take each quiz only once. Maximum time allowed for each quiz is 45 mins (for 15 questions per each quiz). These quizzes are instead of an exam: there is no formal examination for the unit. In addition, they help you keep track of your progress and your readings on a weekly basis.

You are advised to complete each quiz after listening to the relevant lectures: since the quizzes are every two weeks, they will cover material for the previous two weeks; for example, the quiz of week 2 will cover material from weeks 1 and 2. It may be useful to have the lecture notes (pdf) open while you attempt the quiz. Access to the quizzes will be given on Wednesday morning of the week each quiz is due (because Wed is when we have the second lecture of the week) and until Sunday midnight of the particular week. Please do not start a quiz until you are ready to answer the questions! In the past some students opened a quiz to see how it worked: once opened the quiz must be completed as you may take each quiz only once.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate concrete knowledge of the myths we have studied, and the theoretical approaches used for their study.
- Practice and demonstrate your ability to exercise critical thinking about ancient when presented with multiple-choice responses.

Late Assessment Submission Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – 10 marks out of 100 credit will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted seven days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline.
