Session 2 Learning and Teaching Update

The decision has been made to conduct study online for the remainder of Session 2 for all units WITHOUT mandatory on-campus learning activities. Exams for Session 2 will also be online where possible to do so.

This is due to the extension of the lockdown orders and to provide certainty around arrangements for the remainder of Session 2. We hope to return to campus beyond Session 2 as soon as it is safe and appropriate to do so.

Some classes/teaching activities cannot be moved online and must be taught on campus. You should already know if you are in one of these classes/teaching activities and your unit convenor will provide you with more information via iLearn. If you want to confirm, see the list of units with mandatory on-campus classes/teaching activities.

Visit the MQ COVID-19 information page for more detail.

Unit description

The course will explore the way law governs the labour market. The course begins by exploring the nature of wage-labour in a market economy. Then the common law doctrines that categorize the employment relationship will be examined. The course then fans out to examine major topics that highlight the interplay between labour law and the social structure. The constitutional framework of labour law is surveyed. The extant workplace relations system is also examined.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- ULO1: Describe and evaluate the key concepts of the law governing the labour market.
- ULO2: Describe and evaluate the evolution of the constitutional framework of labour law.
- ULO3: Evaluate the impact of theoretical modes of thinking in the field of labour law.
- ULO4: Describe and evaluate the role of wage labour in a market economy.
