Session 2 Learning and Teaching Update

The decision has been made to conduct study online for the remainder of Session 2 for all units WITHOUT mandatory on-campus learning activities. Exams for Session 2 will also be online where possible to do so.

This is due to the extension of the lockdown orders and to provide certainty around arrangements for the remainder of Session 2. We hope to return to campus beyond Session 2 as soon as it is safe and appropriate to do so.

Some classes/teaching activities cannot be moved online and must be taught on campus. You should already know if you are in one of these classes/teaching activities and your unit convenor will provide you with more information via iLearn. If you want to confirm, see the list of units with mandatory on-campus classes/teaching activities.

Visit the MQ COVID-19 information page for more detail.

Unit description

Organisations are facing increased challenges brought about by a globalised and competitive business environment. Organisations have changed from being hierarchical and silo-ed towards being flatter and team-driven. Now, more than ever, the manner by which people are managed and led has become crucial for organisational success. This unit considers a range of concepts, theories, and methodologies to navigate and optimise workplace relationships in this new organisational context. Students learn how to motivate and manage people in their organisation, focusing on strategy, employee experience and performance management. Through structured learning activities, students examine the available evidence concerning the approaches and contingencies that enhance employee, team and organisational outcomes through the lenses of talent, diversity and culture, as well as human resource management, and advance strategies to enact positive outcomes in simulated and real-life scenarios. Particular focus is placed on the changes associated with the future of work and their implications for managing people in complex and dynamic environments.
