Unit description

This unit extends students' capacity to apply specific organisational psychology skills in the workplace under the supervision of an Adjunct supervisor. Students will develop skills in training needs analysis, change management, and employee counselling. The placement consists of 250 hours. Students are required to complete at least a thousand hours across all placements in the program to meet accreditation requirements. The diversity of tasks and roles within organisational psychology means that even students who have repeatedly demonstrated competency may still have gaps in professional knowledge and skill that may limit their competency in some specific contexts.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Demonstrate excellent depth and breadth of knowledge and scholarly understanding required of organisational psychologists in determining client needs and designing and implementing evidence-based interventions.

ULO2: Demonstrate excellent higher level critical thinking skills in the ability both to generate and evaluate new, professionally-oriented knowledge.

ULO3: Demonstrate excellent communication skills across a wide range of client groups, colleagues and other professionals, using a variety of formats to function empathically within and across cultures and life stages.

ULO4: Demonstrate detailed knowledge of the legislative frameworks relevant to organisational psychologists and undertake practice according to professional standards and the Psychology Board of Australia's code of ethics.

ULO5: Demonstrate employment-ready capabilities required of those entering a registrar program in organisational psychology, along with the professional and personal skills for assessing continuous development needs.
