Unit description

What tools do cultural anthropologists use to observe humans and make sense of their actions in the world? This unit introduces the practical, methodological, and ethical dimensions of ethnographic research. As the primary goal of the unit is to teach students how to conduct ethnographic fieldwork, over the semester students engage in first-hand research projects where they regularly participate in and observe a cultural scene of their own choosing. Weekly meetings frame the fieldwork process as students learn anthropological research methods under the guidance of an experienced staff member, and then apply this knowledge to their ethnographic study. These meetings provide students an opportunity to share their fieldwork experiences with each other, discuss the methodological issues, and workshop concerns raised by their own studies. Simultaneously students will read several classic ethnographies to develop an understanding of the relationship between ethnographic research and ethnographic writing.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Understand and apply a variety of ethnographic research methods.

ULO2: Conduct ethnographic research.

ULO3: Apply a variety of qualitative research methods, including interviewing, semantic domain analysis, unobtrusive observation, preparing literature review, and time allocation surveys.

ULO4: Present research to peers and instructors in written and oral format.

ULO5: Prepare a sample research proposal for a feasible participant-observation ethnographic study.

ULO6: Acquire the knowledge and confidence to competently discuss and apply field research techniques relevant for employment as a field researcher.

General Assessment Information

Please note that, in order to pass this unit, you need to attend a minimum of two-thirds of all seminar sessions, you must complete ethics training and show you've passed the ethics quiz, and you must submit a final paper. Failure to complete these threshold requirements will result in a failing mark, regardless of your performance in other aspects of the unit.

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. online tests.

It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of all written work submitted for each unit. No consideration will be given to claims of 'lost work', no matter what the circumstances.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Seminar participation	20%	No	Weekly
Ethics quiz	0%	No	7 March
Research proposal	20%	No	31 March (Proposal) / 19 April (Peer-Reviews)
Research journal	15%	No	12 May
Ethnographic research paper	35%	No	4 June
Oral presentation of research	10%	No	Week 12/13

Seminar participation

Assessment Type ¹: Participatory task

Indicative Time on Task ²: 26 hours

Due: Weekly

Weighting: 20%

Seminar participation, including discussion preparation guide

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply a variety of ethnographic research methods.
- Acquire the knowledge and confidence to competently discuss and apply field research techniques relevant for employment as a field researcher.

Ethics quiz

Assessment Type ¹: Quiz/Test

Indicative Time on Task ²: 4 hours

Due: 7 March

Weighting: 0%

Students will take the online ethics module for social science research and the online quiz at the end of the module.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply a variety of ethnographic research methods.

Research proposal

Assessment Type ¹: Plan

Indicative Time on Task ²: 12 hours

Due: 31 March (Proposal) / 19 April (Peer-Reviews)

Weighting: 20%

Research proposals will be original project designs for ethnographic research projects. Your research proposal should be a formal description of the ongoing project of ethnographic description that you are engaged in for this class. Your grade on this assignment will be based on a combination of the research proposal you submit and the feedback you give to your peers.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply a variety of ethnographic research methods.
- Present research to peers and instructors in written and oral format.
- Prepare a sample research proposal for a feasible participant-observation ethnographic study.

Research journal

Assessment Type ¹: Field book

Indicative Time on Task ²: 15 hours

Due: 12 May

Weighting: 15%

From the third week of class students will be asked to keep a research journal. This should be a participant-observation record of their research activity.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply a variety of ethnographic research methods.
- Conduct ethnographic research.
- Apply a variety of qualitative research methods, including interviewing, semantic domain analysis, unobtrusive observation, preparing literature review, and time allocation surveys.

Ethnographic research paper

Assessment Type ¹: Essay

Indicative Time on Task ²: 35 hours

Due: 4 June

Weighting: 35%

Students will write an ethnographic research paper of approximately 2,500 words based on the data that they have collected in their ethnographic research journal.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Conduct ethnographic research.
- Present research to peers and instructors in written and oral format.
- Acquire the knowledge and confidence to competently discuss and apply field research techniques relevant for employment as a field researcher.

Oral presentation of research

Assessment Type ¹: Presentation

Indicative Time on Task ²: 5 hours

Due: Week 12/13

Weighting: 10%

Students will present their research projects in the class in Weeks 12/13.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Present research to peers and instructors in written and oral format.
- Acquire the knowledge and confidence to competently discuss and apply field research techniques relevant for employment as a field researcher.

- the academic teaching staff in your unit for guidance in understanding or completing this type of assessment
- the Writing Centre for academic skills support.

² Indicative time-on-task is an estimate of the time required for completion of the assessment task and is subject to individual variation

Delivery and Resources

ANTH3024 is run in a two-hour seminar format. [No tutorials] Seminars start in Week 1.
