Session 2 Learning and Teaching Update

The decision has been made to conduct study online for the remainder of Session 2 for all units WITHOUT mandatory on-campus learning activities. Exams for Session 2 will also be online where possible to do so.

This is due to the extension of the lockdown orders and to provide certainty around arrangements for the remainder of Session 2. We hope to return to campus beyond Session 2 as soon as it is safe and appropriate to do so.

Some classes/teaching activities cannot be moved online and must be taught on campus. You should already know if you are in one of these classes/teaching activities and your unit convenor will provide you with more information via iLearn. If you want to confirm, see the list of units with mandatory on-campus classes/teaching activities.

Visit the MQ COVID-19 information page for more detail.

<td>What tools do cultural anthropologists use to observe humans and make sense of their actions in the world? This unit introduces the practical, methodological, and ethical dimensions of ethnographic research. As the primary goal of the unit is to teach students how to conduct ethnographic fieldwork, over the semester students engage in first-hand research projects where they regularly participate in and observe a cultural scene of their own choosing. Weekly meetings frame the fieldwork process as students learn anthropological research methods under the guidance of an experienced staff member, and then apply this knowledge to their ethnographic study. These meetings provide students an opportunity to share their fieldwork experiences with each other, discuss the methodological issues, and workshop concerns raised by their own studies. Simultaneously students will read several classic ethnographies to develop an understanding of the relationship between ethnographic research and ethnographic writing.</td>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- ULO1: Understand and apply a variety of ethnographic research methods.
- ULO2: Conduct ethnographic research.
- ULO3: Apply a variety of qualitative research methods, including interviewing, semantic domain analysis, unobtrusive observation, preparing literature review, and time allocation surveys.

ULO4: Present research to peers and instructors in written and oral format.

ULO5: Prepare a sample research proposal for a feasible participant-observation ethnographic study.

ULO6: Acquire the knowledge and confidence to competently discuss and apply field research techniques relevant for employment as a field researcher.

Seminar participation

Assessment Type: Participatory task

Indicative Time on Task: 26 hours

Due: Every week

Weighting: 20%

Seminar participation, including discussion preparation guide

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply a variety of ethnographic research methods.
- Acquire the knowledge and confidence to competently discuss and apply field research techniques relevant for employment as a field researcher.

Ethics quiz

Assessment Type: Quiz/Test

Indicative Time on Task: 4 hours

Due: 2 August

Weighting: 0%
Students will take the online ethics module for social science research and the online quiz at the end of the module.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply a variety of ethnographic research methods.

Research proposal

Assessment Type 1: Plan
Indicative Time on Task 2: 12 hours
Due: 30 August
Weighting: 20%

Research proposals will be original project designs for ethnographic research projects. Your research proposal should be a formal description of the ongoing project of ethnographic description that you are engaged in for this class. Your grade on this assignment will be based on a combination of the research proposal you submit and the feedback you give to your peers.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply a variety of ethnographic research methods.
- Present research to peers and instructors in written and oral format.
- Prepare a sample research proposal for a feasible participant-observation ethnographic study.

Research journal

Assessment Type 1: Field book
Indicative Time on Task 2: 15 hours
Due: 11 October
Weighting: 15%

From the third week of class students will be asked to keep a research journal. This should be a participant-observation record of their research activity.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply a variety of ethnographic research methods.
- Conduct ethnographic research.
- Apply a variety of qualitative research methods, including interviewing, semantic domain analysis, unobtrusive observation, preparing literature review, and time allocation surveys.

Oral presentation of research

Assessment Type 1: Presentation
Unit guide ANTH3024 Doing Ethnography

Indicative Time on Task: 5 hours
Due: 25 October and 1 November
Weighting: 10%

Students will present their research projects in the class in Weeks 12/13.

On successful completion you will be able to:

• Present research to peers and instructors in written and oral format.
• Acquire the knowledge and confidence to competently discuss and apply field research techniques relevant for employment as a field researcher.

Ethnographic research paper
Assessment Type: Essay
Indicative Time on Task: 35 hours
Due: 8 November
Weighting: 35%

Students will write an ethnographic research paper of approximately 2,500 words based on the data that they have collected in their ethnographic research journal.

On successful completion you will be able to:

• Conduct ethnographic research.
• Present research to peers and instructors in written and oral format.
• Acquire the knowledge and confidence to competently discuss and apply field research techniques relevant for employment as a field researcher.

If you need help with your assignment, please contact:

• the academic teaching staff in your unit for guidance in understanding or completing this type of assessment
• the Learning Skills Unit for academic skills support.

Indicative time-on-task is an estimate of the time required for completion of the assessment task and is subject to individual variation

Delivery and Resources
ANTH3024 is run in a two-hour seminar format. [No tutorials] Seminars start in Week 1.

Policies and Procedures
Macquarie University policies and procedures are accessible from Policy Central (https://staff.mq.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policy-central). Students should be aware of the following policies in particular with regard to Learning and
