ULO1: Apply and assimilate information in a context and at a level appropriate to BPhil level study.

ULO2: Assess relevant sources and issues critically, analytically, and in an integrated fashion.

ULO3: Demonstrate understanding orally and in writing, by deduction and argumentation.

ULO4: Show, orally and in writing, critical understanding of factual questions and judgements of likelihood and value.

ULO6: Interpret, understand, and advance the state of thinking about the writing of history, including ancient history, and, when appropriate, read against the sources.

General Assessment Information

Please submit your assignments on time.

If you can't, please apply for special consideration (Disruption to Studies) via the system. A medical certificate or equivalent will be required. DON'T ask me (the unit coordinator) for an extension: I'm not allowed to give them.

'Unless a Disruption to Studies request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply--2 marks (out of a total of 100 marks) will be deducted per day for assignment submitted after the due date--and (b) no assignment will be accepted seven days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline.'

This is an official wording. The interpretation of the bit about '2 marks out of 100 marks' is that one should pretend that a given task was going to be marked out of 100 (though it will not be, in this unit). So (for example) when an assignment is out of 40, one loses each day 2% of 40 marks, i.e. 0.8 of a mark. And so on. It does not mean '2% per day of the total available for the unit as a whole'--even though the final mark for the unit will be expressed as a percentage.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Minor essay	20%	No	14 March 2021
Major essay	40%	No	6 June 2021
seminar	40%	No	different for each student

Minor essay

Assessment Type ¹: Essay

Indicative Time on Task ²: 15 hours

Due: 14 March 2021

Weighting: 20%

Students will write an essay (word-limit 1500 words including footnotes but not including bibliography list) on a title given in iLearn.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Apply and assimilate information in a context and at a level appropriate to BPhil level study.
- Assess relevant sources and issues critically, analytically, and in an integrated fashion.

- Demonstrate understanding orally and in writing, by deduction and argumentation.
- Show, orally and in writing, critical understanding of factual questions and judgements of likelihood and value.

Major essay

Assessment Type ¹: Essay

Indicative Time on Task ²: 30 hours

Due: 6 June 2021

Weighting: 40%

The major essay will be a developed version of the study first presented as an in-class seminar. If a student, having given an in-class seminar, finds that its topic has exhausted its potential and wants another, they may ask the unit convener: it will be possible to negotiate an amended or completely new topic. Otherwise, the in-class seminar should be developed into a fully-footnoted major essay (maximum length 3,000 words) with bibliography, on a historiographical theme linked to the original topic.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Apply and assimilate information in a context and at a level appropriate to BPhil level study.
- Assess relevant sources and issues critically, analytically, and in an integrated fashion.
- Demonstrate understanding orally and in writing, by deduction and argumentation.
- Show, orally and in writing, critical understanding of factual questions and judgements of likelihood and value.
- Relate understanding of the ancient world to broad conceptual frameworks and modern contexts.
- Interpret, understand, and advance the state of thinking about the writing of history, including ancient history, and, when appropriate, read against the sources.

seminar

Assessment Type ¹: Presentation

Indicative Time on Task ²: 30 hours

Due: different for each student

Weighting: 40%

At the beginning of the semester students will be given a topic for a seminar, and allocated a date and time. These seminars will be given two per lecture hour, and each seminar talk should take between fifteen and twenty minutes to deliver. A presenter may use a powerpoint show or equivalent if desired, or just speak to the class. This may be done via a Zoom session. Questions and discussion will follow each seminar talk.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Apply and assimilate information in a context and at a level appropriate to BPhil level study.
- Assess relevant sources and issues critically, analytically, and in an integrated fashion.
- Demonstrate understanding orally and in writing, by deduction and argumentation.
- Show, orally and in writing, critical understanding of factual questions and judgements of likelihood and value.
- Interpret, understand, and advance the state of thinking about the writing of history, including ancient history, and, when appropriate, read against the sources.

- the academic teaching staff in your unit for guidance in understanding or completing this type of assessment
- the Writing Centre for academic skills support.

² Indicative time-on-task is an estimate of the time required for completion of the assessment task and is subject to individual variation

Delivery and Resources

To complete the unit satisfactorily you will need to achieve an overall mark worth 50% or above. Lectures will be recorded and available via Echo 360. Resources are available in iLearn. There are items available for this unit in e-reserve.

Lectures will be given in person, but will be posted online afterwards.

Each student will give a seminar. Most seminars, but not all, will be given in the Friday 12.00 to 1.00 slot in 25 Wally's Walk A204. Distance students may give their seminars using Zoom, but others should be present in person to give their seminars.

PC and Internet access, including Zoom, are required. Basic computer skills (e.g., internet browsing) and skills in word processing are also a requirement. Any problem, contact onehelp@mq.edu.au (9850 4357) and not the unit convener.
