Unit description

This unit will provide the postgraduate student with an analytical and critical understanding of how economic agents (firms, consumers, corporations, governments, families) behave, and how these agents operate in our economy. The unit introduces students to the analysis of the ways in which individuals, businesses and governments behave in contemporary economic settings. Examples of topics covered are consumer behaviour, the behaviour of the firm, its production and cost structure, competition and market structures, monopoly, labour and capital markets, strategic interaction, social outcomes and welfare analysis. These analytical tools are meant to allow students to better understand contemporary global issues. The theory is taught in an applied context. Any basic economic models and accompanying mathematical and other skills required by the unit's material are taught as part of the unit curriculum.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Explain how microeconomic concepts can be applied to a variety of economic problems and issues faced by society.

ULO2: Critically evaluate the applicability of microeconomic theory to the real world, in order to appreciate the challenges faced by economists.

ULO3: Select, justify and utilise appropriate microeconomic knowledge to provide solutions to complex economic problems.

ULO4: Utilise appropriate practices involved in today's essential and contemporary management communication challenges.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Problems	30%	No	Week 3, 6, and 9
Application	40%	No	Week 7 and Week 11
Online mid-session test	30%	No	Week 13

Problems

Assessment Type ¹: Problem set

Indicative Time on Task ²: 15 hours

Due: Week 3, 6, and 9

Weighting: 30%

There will be a series of complex problems requiring appropriate solutions that rely on the knowledge and application of theories and concepts.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Critically evaluate the applicability of microeconomic theory to the real world, in order to appreciate the challenges faced by economists.
- Select, justify and utilise appropriate microeconomic knowledge to provide solutions to complex economic problems.
- Utilise appropriate practices involved in today's essential and contemporary management communication challenges.

Application

Assessment Type ¹: Case study/analysis

Indicative Time on Task ²: 20 hours

Due: Week 7 and Week 11

Weighting: 40%

On two occasions throughout the unit, students will be required to produce a written analysis of a real-world issue/phenomenon in which the techniques covered in specified areas of the content are to be applied.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Explain how microeconomic concepts can be applied to a variety of economic problems and issues faced by society.
- Critically evaluate the applicability of microeconomic theory to the real world, in order to appreciate the challenges faced by economists.
- Select, justify and utilise appropriate microeconomic knowledge to provide solutions to complex economic problems.
- Utilise appropriate practices involved in today's essential and contemporary management communication challenges.

Online mid-session test

Assessment Type ¹: Quiz/Test

Indicative Time on Task ²: 15 hours

Due: Week 13

Weighting: 30%

A written class test that assesses student knowledge of microeconomic concepts and their application for defined areas of the unit content will be held during the session.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Explain how microeconomic concepts can be applied to a variety of economic problems and issues faced by society.
- Critically evaluate the applicability of microeconomic theory to the real world, in order to appreciate the challenges faced by economists.
- Select, justify and utilise appropriate microeconomic knowledge to provide solutions to complex economic problems.

¹ If you need help with your assignment, please contact:

- the academic teaching staff in your unit for guidance in understanding or completing this type of assessment
- the Writing Centre for academic skills support.

² Indicative time-on-task is an estimate of the time required for completion of the assessment task and is subject to individual variation

Delivery and Resources

Delivery

There will be lecture material available on the unit iLearn page prior to each week's lecture. Students are advised to independently work through the material provided in preparation for the online weekly synchronous class. There will be weekly discussions on applications conducted in class and on the unit discussion Blog. Students are strongly encouraged to participate in class discussions every week to assist in the preparation for the assessment tasks.

Unit iLearn

Material for the unit, including the unit schedule, will be available to students by logging on to the unit web page at <http://ilearn.mq.edu.au>.

Required Text

Perloff, J (2018), Microeconomics, 8th edition, Global edition, Pearson Education Limited.

Unit Schedule

The Unit Schedule will be available on iLearn in Week 1.
