Unit description
Public Health is intrinsically related to social justice and alleviating the outcomes associated with negative health determinants, including marginalisation. In line with this philosophy, you will explore the nature of marginalisation and its impacts on the health of individuals and populations. We will investigate the role of policy in improving health and in some cases, creating further disadvantage in at risk populations. We will also investigate the unique nature of undertaking research with marginalised populations, particularly the necessity to involve relevant stakeholders in all stages of the research endeavour and service delivery so as to promote social justice and equity for marginalised populations and create inclusive health systems that meet diverse needs.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Describe the key characteristics and individual and social determinants of marginalisation in a population health context
ULO2: Evaluate interventions designed to improve health outcomes in marginalised populations
ULO3: Develop culturally aware techniques for engagement with and advocacy for marginalised populations in public health practice and/or research to create inclusive systems

ULO4: Critically appraise health policy related to marginalised populations with particular consideration of pragmatic approaches to development and delivery of policy

General Assessment Information

To pass this unit, students must demonstrate sufficient evidence of achievement of the learning outcomes and attempt all assessment tasks.

Further details for each assessment task will be available on iLearn, including marking rubrics.

All final grades in the department of Health Systems and Populations are determined by a grading committee and are not the sole responsibility of the Unit Convenor.

Students will be awarded one of these grades plus a Standardised Numerical Grade (SNG). The SNG is not necessarily a summation of the individual assessment components. The final grade and SNG that are awarded reflect the corresponding grade descriptor in Schedule 1 of the Assessment Policy.

Extensions for Assessment tasks

Late Submission of Work

All assignments which are officially received after the due date, and where no extension has been granted by the course convenor or tutor, will incur a deduction of 5% per day penalty including weekends and public holidays. If you submit the assessment task 10 days or more beyond the due date, without an approved extension, you will be awarded a maximum of 50% of the overall assessment marks.

Characteristics of marginalisation and impact on healthcare

Assessment Type 1: Essay
Indicative Time on Task 2: 50 hours
Due: Week 7
Weighting: 50%

The essay will draw upon the lectures and reading materials from weeks 1 and 6 and demonstrate a sound knowledge and understanding of the key characteristics of marginalisation and the association between marginalisation and healthcare access and outcomes.

On successful completion you will be able to:
- Describe the key characteristics and individual and social determinants of marginalisation in a population health context
- Evaluate interventions designed to improve health outcomes in marginalised populations

Health care policy case study

Assessment Type 1: Case study/analysis
Indicative Time on Task 2: 30 hours
Due: Week 10
Weighting: 30%

The case study should draw upon the lectures and reading materials from weeks 1 - 12 and demonstrate a sound knowledge and understanding of techniques for engaging with marginalised populations in public healthcare policy, practice and/or research and critically appraise health policy related to the marginalised population they elect as their focus.
On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe the key characteristics and individual and social determinants of marginalisation in a population health context
- Evaluate interventions designed to improve health outcomes in marginalised populations
- Develop culturally aware techniques for engagement with and advocacy for marginalised populations in public health practice and/or research to create inclusive systems
- Critically appraise health policy related to marginalised populations with particular consideration of pragmatic approaches to development and delivery of policy

Healthcare policy presentation

Assessment Type: Presentation
Indicative Time on Task: 20 hours
Due: Week 13
Weighting: 20%

Students should prepare a short presentation based on their Healthcare case study.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe the key characteristics and individual and social determinants of marginalisation in a population health context
- Evaluate interventions designed to improve health outcomes in marginalised populations
- Develop culturally aware techniques for engagement with and advocacy for marginalised populations in public health practice and/or research to create inclusive systems
- Critically appraise health policy related to marginalised populations with particular consideration of pragmatic approaches to development and delivery of policy

1 If you need help with your assignment, please contact:
- the academic teaching staff in your unit for guidance in understanding or completing this type of assessment
- the Learning Skills Unit for academic skills support.

2 Indicative time-on-task is an estimate of the time required for completion of the assessment task and is subject to individual variation
Delivery and Resources

Lectures will be delivered synchronously on-line and recorded except in the final week which will be available face to face (COVID permitting) or on-line

Course Convenor (Kylie Gwynne) will deliver all teaching and marking supplemented by guest lectures later in the course.

Unit Organisation

This is a ten credit point unit run over a 13 week session. Further information is available via the online Learning Management System (LMS) iLearn http://ilearn.mq.edu.

Readings

The readings for each week will be listed in ilearn using the Leganto system. Leganto is the reading list management system, which you can access through your iLearn unit. More information on Leganto is available here: http://libguides.mq.edu.au/leganto

Readings marked as 'required' are essential for completion in the marked week. Some readings may be included that are marked as 'recommended' or 'secondary sources', these are additional materials that may be of interest to you. Please use these at your discretion.

Technology and equipment

Off-campus

To study optimally when off campus you will need to have access to a reliable internet connection to retrieve unit information and at times to join interactive session (eg zoom) or submit assessment tasks via iLearn.

On-campus

Teaching rooms are equipped with state of art audio-visual and ICT equipment including internet connection, high quality video cameras and multiple LCD screens.

Where learning activities (such as tutorials and other small group learning activities) are offered on-campus an online version will be available for those students who choose to continue their studies online (selected via eStudent).

Policies and Procedures

Macquarie University policies and procedures are accessible from Policy Central (https://policies.mq.edu.au). Students should be aware of the following policies in particular with regard to Learning and Teaching:
