Unit description

This unit shows how colonialism, imperialism, post-colonialism and neo-colonialism affect identity. The unit explores the tensions between Third and First World feminists. This leads us to talk about imperial feminists and transnational feminists' responses to their agendas. The issue of identity is also discussed in relation to Muslim women through a focus on veiling, unveiling and Islamic feminism. The unit's discussion of the North-South divide throws light on the relations between the identities of citizens of poor and wealthy countries. The course shows how religion, race, borders, Orientalism, imperialism and globalization affect gender relations and one's sense of self.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Demonstrate an understanding of the complexity of colonialism, post-colonialism and neo-colonialism.

ULO2: Demonstrate an understanding of imperial and transnational feminisms.

ULO3: Demonstrate an ability to examine the power dynamics that govern the relationships between the Global South and North.

ULO4: Demonstrate a realistic understanding of the lives of women in developing countries.

ULO5: Analyse critically a variety of texts (documentaries, novels, songs, media articles, news clips) and data sources concerning gender within their historical, social, geopolitical and theoretical contexts.

For any extensions please lodge a special consideration request via <http://ask.mq.edu.au> . Approved extensions will not incur a late penalty.

Late Submission Penalty

“Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply, - 10 marks will be deducted per day - and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Weekly Answers	20%	No	Throughout the semester
Self-Reflection	35%	No	3 April 2022
Research Essay	45%	No	5 June 2022

Weekly Answers

Assessment Type <sup>1</sup>: Participatory task

Indicative Time on Task <sup>2</sup>: 26 hours

Due: Throughout the semester

Weighting: 20%

Regular contribution to weekly Discussion Forums is a requirement of this unit for external students. Participation should provide evidence of the student having done the readings, listened to the lecture and thought about the topics in relation to both local and global contexts.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of the complexity of colonialism, post-colonialism and neo-colonialism.
- Demonstrate an understanding of imperial and transnational feminisms.
- Demonstrate an ability to examine the power dynamics that govern the relationships between the Global South and North.
- Demonstrate a realistic understanding of the lives of women in developing countries.
- Analyse critically a variety of texts (documentaries, novels, songs, media articles, news clips) and data sources concerning gender within their historical, social, geopolitical and theoretical contexts.
- Examine the relationship between forms of knowledge and forms of everyday living.

Self-Reflection

Assessment Type <sup>1</sup>: Reflective Writing

Indicative Time on Task <sup>2</sup>: 24 hours

Due: 3 April 2022

Weighting: 35%

In this assessment task, students explore personal experiences, feelings and events and link them to the theories and concepts learnt through the unit materials. The Personal Reflection is an opportunity to reconsider events which students lived, watched, read or heard about. The sources of these experiences can be students' personal lives, books or popular culture artefacts (rap songs, TV shows, films, ads, comics, cartoons, the news, blogs, Vlogs, etc).

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of the complexity of colonialism, post-colonialism and neo-colonialism.
- Demonstrate an understanding of imperial and transnational feminisms.
- Demonstrate an ability to examine the power dynamics that govern the relationships between the Global South and North.
