Unit description
The interconnectedness of distinctive places and people across the planet is at the heart of many urgent contemporary issues, including climate change, migration, geopolitical conflict, and cultural transformation. This unit equips students to engage with these issues by introducing the key approaches used by geographers to explore and explain the spatial variations and interconnections of political, cultural, social, economic and environmental processes that shape the world today. The unit draws on historical and contemporary case studies to examine a range of different geographical perspectives, while maintaining a focus on the core concepts and theories that constitute the discipline of human geography. The unit ultimately aims to provide an understanding of how the discipline of geography is understood and practiced, and explore how geographic knowledge and skills can be used to analyse contemporary social and environmental challenges.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:
ULO1: Describe the overarching field of geography, and the range of human geography subdisciplines

ULO2: Apply geographical approaches to the analysis of cultural, social, political, environmental and economic processes at a range of scales

ULO3: Identify and explain core concepts in human geography, including space, place, landscape, region, flow and scale, and their relevance in an interdisciplinary context

ULO4: Demonstrate spatial literacy skills by reading and critiquing texts, images, maps and landscapes

ULO5: Write, research and communicate in academically appropriate ways

General Assessment Information

Lateness Submission Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – 10 marks out of 100 credit will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted seven days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline.

To successfully pass GEOP1010 students must complete all assessment tasks. Failure to complete any single assessment task may result in failure of the unit. The final grade is based on the total mark accumulated from all assessment tasks.

All students must keep a clean electronic copy of all assignments (preferably as a PDF) submitted for assessment.

Geo Challenge

Assessment Type: Project
Indicative Time on Task: 20 hours
Due: 18/3/2022
Weighting: 30%

Students will complete a series of activities involving the analysis and evaluation of key concepts including place, landscape and scale, the results of which will be presented in written and visual form. Internal students will conduct Geo Challenge activities on Macquarie Campus, while external students will conduct activities online.

On successful completion you will be able to:
- Apply geographical approaches to the analysis of cultural, social, political, environmental and economic processes at a range of scales
- Identify and explain core concepts in human geography, including space, place, landscape, region, flow and scale, and their relevance in an interdisciplinary context
- Demonstrate spatial literacy skills by reading and critiquing texts, images, maps and landscapes
- Write, research and communicate in academically appropriate ways

Research essay
Assessment Type 1: Essay
Indicative Time on Task 2: 40 hours
Due: 6/05/2022
Weighting: 40%

A 2000 word research essay drawing on academic geographical literature to develop critical analyses of a contemporary case study

On successful completion you will be able to:
- Describe the overarching field of geography, and the range of human geography subdisciplines
- Apply geographical approaches to the analysis of cultural, social, political, environmental and economic processes at a range of scales
- Identify and explain core concepts in human geography, including space, place, landscape, region, flow and scale, and their relevance in an interdisciplinary context
- Demonstrate spatial literacy skills by reading and critiquing texts, images, maps and landscapes
- Write, research and communicate in academically appropriate ways

Open-book task
Assessment Type 1: Quiz/Test
Indicative Time on Task 2: 20 hours
Students will have three days to complete a series of questions related to core unit content, in an open-book format. Students will be required to make reference to relevant geographical literature and to analyse data as part of their question responses.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe the overarching field of geography, and the range of human geography subdisciplines
- Apply geographical approaches to the analysis of cultural, social, political, environmental and economic processes at a range of scales
- Demonstrate spatial literacy skills by reading and critiquing texts, images, maps and landscapes

1 If you need help with your assignment, please contact:
   - the academic teaching staff in your unit for guidance in understanding or completing this type of assessment
   - the Writing Centre for academic skills support.

2 Indicative time-on-task is an estimate of the time required for completion of the assessment task and is subject to individual variation
