Unit description

What can we learn about the past when we examine it through the lens of popular culture?

This unit traces a history of popular culture in the United States of America and Australia from the 1950s to the present, exploring the ways that popular culture can magnify and reflect changing ideas about race, class, gender, and ideology. We will examine the impact of new technologies, moral panics over popular culture, and whether popular culture constituted a form of cultural citizenship. Film, television, music and other media are used in this unit to evoke seminal moments in the history of popular culture and students are encouraged to explore these non-discursive forms as primary sources. Students are also encouraged to consider the reception of popular culture by audiences and to think about their own experience of popular culture historically. This unit will be of particular interest to students in media, education, and cultural studies, as well as history.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Locate, read, and analyse different kinds of historical evidence (primary sources), including visual and textual sources

ULO3: Identify key arguments in secondary source materials and apply them in your own historical arguments

ULO2: Devise and answer research questions drawing on primary and secondary evidence

ULO4: Communicate thoughtfully in classroom discussions, and in a range of written forms

ULO5: Be able to identify and analyse key developments in the history of popular culture since 1945

ULO6: Analyse selected examples of popular culture produced since 1945 in their historical contexts, and describe the ways these examples, relate to, and reflect, broader, social, cultural, and political trends

General Assessment Information

Unless a special consideration request has been submitted and approved, a) a penalty for lateness will apply - 10 marks out of 100 credit will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date and b) no assignment will be accepted seven days (including weekends) after the original submission deadline.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Research Project Proposal	20%	No	23:59, 8/4/22
Research Essay	50%	No	23:59, 3/6/22

Research Project Proposal

Assessment Type ¹: Plan

Indicative Time on Task ²: 15 hours

Due: 23:59, 8/4/22

Weighting: 20%

This task will assess student's ability to develop a research question and approach, as well as your ability to locate and analyse primary and secondary sources. Students will respond to a series of questions to prepare the proposal.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Locate, read, and analyse different kinds of historical evidence (primary sources), including visual and textual sources
- Identify key arguments in secondary source materials and apply them in your own historical arguments
- Devise and answer research questions drawing on primary and secondary evidence
- Communicate thoughtfully in classroom discussions, and in a range of written forms
- Be able to identify and analyse key developments in the history of popular culture since 1945

Research Essay

Assessment Type ¹: Essay

Indicative Time on Task ²: 45 hours

Due: 23:59, 3/6/22

Weighting: 50%

This assessment task evaluates student's ability to construct an argument in response to a self-devised research question, based on primary and secondary sources. This task is the culmination of the assessment tasks in this unit; previous assessments provide scaffolding for this final task.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Locate, read, and analyse different kinds of historical evidence (primary sources), including visual and textual sources
- Identify key arguments in secondary source materials and apply them in your own historical arguments
- Devise and answer research questions drawing on primary and secondary evidence
- Communicate thoughtfully in classroom discussions, and in a range of written forms
- Be able to identify and analyse key developments in the history of popular culture since 1945

- Analyse selected examples of popular culture produced since 1945 in their historical contexts, and describe the ways these examples, relate to, and reflect, broader, social, cultural, and political trends

Weekly Quiz

Assessment Type ¹: Quiz/Test

Indicative Time on Task ²: 12 hours

Due: 23:59 18/3/22, 23:59 29/4/22, 23:59 27/5/22

Weighting: 30%

A set of two short answer quiz questions that will be embedded in the online lecture and should be completed before the weekly tutorial/online discussions.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Locate, read, and analyse different kinds of historical evidence (primary sources), including visual and textual sources
- Identify key arguments in secondary source materials and apply them in your own historical arguments
- Devise and answer research questions drawing on primary and secondary evidence
- Communicate thoughtfully in classroom discussions, and in a range of written forms

- the academic teaching staff in your unit for guidance in understanding or completing this type of assessment
- the Writing Centre for academic skills support.

² Indicative time-on-task is an estimate of the time required for completion of the assessment task and is subject to individual variation

Delivery and Resources

Delivery:

this unit is taught through a combination of online lectures and supplementary materials (including film clips and music videos) and asynchronous, online tutorial discussions - the lectures will be available online, and you must listen to the lectures and complete the weekly readings before you participate in the online discussions.

Unit webpage and technology used and required:

Online units can be accessed at: <http://ilearn.mq.edu.au>

PC and Internet access are required. Basic computer skills (eg internet browsing) and skills in word processing are also a requirement.

Required reading:

Students will need to have access to the following required text: Michelle Arrow, Friday on Our Minds: Popular Culture since 1945 (Sydney: UNSW Press, 2009). You do not have to purchase the book, though you might find it is easier to prepare each week if you do so. The book is available to purchase through Booktopia, and it is also available from the university library to borrow or to access as an ebook.

The iLearn site for this unit lists the required weekly readings alongside Friday on Our Minds. These readings are available on Leganto, via the Macquarie University library.

Policies and Procedures

Macquarie University policies and procedures are accessible from Policy Central (<https://policies.mq.edu.au>). Students should be aware of the following policies in particular with regard to Learning and Teaching:
