Unit description This unit requires students to draw on theoretical and discipline knowledge and use these to engage actively in a current and topical policy problem. The students will have opportunities to consult experts and stakeholders in a given policy area and identify relevant evidence, expert opinion and stakeholder views. Students will explore a range of problem definitions and scenarios, and consider alternative policy solutions. Students will develop and present a comprehensive and constructive policy proposal which demonstrates an awareness of ethical, political, social, economic and cultural factors which are significant in the specific policy context.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Identify, critically analyse and synthesise evidence which is relevant to policy making from a wide range of cross-disciplinary sources

ULO2: Apply theoretical material related to public policy to a specific real-world policy problem.

ULO3: Critically consider a range of factors affecting problem definition and the development of appropriate policy solutions.

ULO4: Identify and respond to ethical, political, social, economic and cultural factors which are significant in a specific policy context.

ULO5: Communicate policy recommendations effectively and appropriately to specialist and non-specialist audiences

General Assessment Information

The unit includes a semester long group project on a specific policy reform process. We will discuss policy options and groups in the first few weeks. We provide this list of current/recent policy reforms for you to choose from. You may also choose an alternative with the permission of the unit convener. Please consult the unit convener by week 4 if you would like to select an alternative.

Delivery and Resources

POIR8000 is designed to be largely self directed. The unit consists of four modules with resources and activities provided through iLearn. For each module a 2 hour seminar will be held for on campus students and recorded for online students. All students will have an opportunity to ask questions in advance and all students are able to attend.

Seminars will be held in Weeks 2, 5, 8 and 11. Modules are organised to allow time in the first week of each module to read the set material and identify questions. The second week will include the seminar. Comments and responses in the discussion forums will be made in the second and third weeks. Week 13 is left free to focus on finalising the final assignment.

Unit Schedule

The unit will be organised around four modules.

1. What is a policy problem: defining problems and end users (TF)
2. Policy Design (BSB)
3. Implementation and communication (TF)
4. Evaluation and redesign (BSB)

Policies and Procedures
