Unit description

This unit introduces students to the major theories of international relations, key debates that have shaped the discipline and interconnections between theory and the practice of international politics. The first chair of international politics was established after the First World War with the explicit goal of identifying the causes of war and peace. While war and great power conflict remain central concerns, the discipline has grappled with new challenges as de-colonisation and globalisation have created a densely interconnected global system of sovereign states. Students will engage with key themes including power, great power rivalry, nationalism, national interest, critical approaches, justice and cooperation under anarchy.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Collect information from self-selected sources to complete a prescribed research task.

ULO3: Identify and analyse interconnections between international relations theory and contemporary international politics.

ULO2: Demonstrate a critical understanding of the specific theories used in the study of international relations.

ULO4: Demonstrate capacity to apply the major analytic and theoretical frameworks in several subfields of international relations.

ULO5: Discuss theories of world politics in depth with peers.

General Assessment Information

Delivery and Resources

Delivery

Lectures: the lecture is scheduled for Monday 12-2pm in 23 Wally's Walk T1 Theatre (classrooms may change, so check the timetable) and all students are welcome to attend. The lecture will be recorded and available for viewing later by external and OUA students via ilearn/echo360.

External/ OUA students are expected to participate in the ilearn discussion board each week by answering at least one of the posted questions each week (and engaging with other students at times). 10% of your grade is based on the quality and frequency of participation. Your participation in the weekly discussion must occur within 7 days of the lecture for that week.

Required resources:

There is one required text for this unit:

Lawson, Stephanie. (2015). Theories of International Relations: Contending Approaches to World Politics. Polity Press: Cambridge.

Access to this text will be necessary in order to complete the reading quizzes. Although the library will have a copy of this text (including online access), I recommend that you purchase a copy ahead of semester if possible. All other unit readings will all be available on ilearn or e-reserve.

Unit Schedule

Week 1 - Monday 21 Feb

Introduction: Can theory help us to understand world politics? Whose interests does theory serve? In what context and for what purpose was the discipline of International Relations established? What are the implications of these origins?
