Unit description
This unit investigates some of main ethical issues that arise in professional life and from the activities of businesses and corporations. The unit explores the nature and value of work as well as its role in personal identity and social organisation. We also consider the obligations and responsibilities that come with professional work and the management of businesses. We examine the nature of corporations and their responsibilities to individual workers and consumers, stakeholders, groups such as women and minorities, and the environment.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Demonstrate good general knowledge of the major issues in contemporary business and professional ethics.

ULO2: Understand the major ethical concepts and theories that inform the business and professional ethics literature.

General Assessment Information

Detailed assessment information and rubrics

Detailed information about each of the assessments, including rubrics and submission instructions will be available in the Assessment block in iLearn. Please make sure you read the assessment information carefully, watch the Guide to Assessment video, and post a message in the relevant Assessment forum if you have any questions.

Special Consideration

Requests for extensions should be submitted via a Special Consideration request, which is available in the http://ask.mq.edu.au portal. Your request should be submitted no later than five days after the due date and should be accompanied by appropriate documentation. Please see the Special Consideration policy in the list of policies at the end of this document for further details.

Read the policy closely as your request may be turned down if you have not followed procedure, or if you have not submitted a request in a timely manner.

Late Submission Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – 5 marks out of 100 credit will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven days (incl. weekends) after the original submission date - and (c) No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

Academic Integrity

In Philosophy, academic honesty is taken very seriously, and a range of methods, including but not restricted to the use of Turnitin, are used to detect plagiarism. Misrepresenting someone else’s work as your own may be grounds for referral to the Faculty Disciplinary Committee. If you have questions about how to properly cite work or how to credit sources, please ask the convenor for help and see also the Academic Integrity Policy https://staff.mq.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policies/academic-integrity

Note: All assignments in this unit are individual assignments. Collusion (unauthorised collaboration on individual assignments) is a breach of the Academic Integrity Policy. If in doubt, contact a member of teaching staff.

A helpful resource if you would like to know more about referencing and avoiding plagiarism is Macquarie’s Academic Integrity Module, available here: https://students.mq.edu.au/support/study/skills-development. You will need to complete this Module before accessing the unit content, if you have not already done so. More information is available in iLearn.

Delivery and Resources

Required and recommended texts and/or materials

All weekly readings for the unit will be made available through the Leganto link in iLearn.

Lectures in this unit will be delivered online. These will be released through the Echo 360 block in iLearn.

Unit Schedule

Please Note:

This is an intensive (accelerated) unit, and the course load is identical to the standard 13-week session in which one topic is studied per week. There is no difference in the requirements between an ordinary unit and an intensive unit, except for the shortened time frame.

Week 1:

Week 1 will cover the first three topics in the unit. Topic 1 is an introduction to the course as whole and what it means to think philosophically about work. Topic 2 addresses the question: how should work be divided? by looking at the relationship between justice and work in the philosophy of Plato. Topic 3 addresses the question: what is the best kind of work? by looking at Aristotle’s hierarchy of human action.

Week 2:

Week 2 will cover the next three topics in the unit, it will also conclude the first section of the course. Topic 4 investigates the connection between work, wealth and well-being. Topic 5 addresses the question: can we be free in our work? by looking the philosophy of work in the 19th century German philosopher G.W.F. Hegel. Topic 6 explores this same question as it is discussed in the early philosophical writings of Karl Marx.

Week 3:

Week 3 signals a change in direction for the course. We shift emphasis from philosophical accounts of the significance of work and begin to analyse and discuss philosophical accounts of the social obligations of modern corporations. Topic 7 introduces the idea of business ethics and covers the so-called ‘narrow’ view of business ethics. Topic 8 offers a contrasting view by examining the 'broader' view of business ethics developed by Kenneth Goodpaster.

Week 4:

In Week 4 we move into the third and final section of the course. Throughout this last section we will continue to examine the obligations and responsibilities of businesses. However, this section will provide a number of concrete case studies which flesh out the approaches covered in the prior weeks. Topic 9 examines the issues surrounding sweatshops and globalisation, whilst Topic 10 explores the problem of bias, discrimination and stereotypes in work.

Week 5:

Week 5 is the final week of the course. We conclude by evaluating two further ethical issues facing business in the 21st century. Topic 11 critically discusses the role and treatment of non-human animals in contemporary economic life. Topic 12 explores the responsibilities of corporations towards the environment.

Policies and Procedures
