Unit description

In settler-colonial societies such as Australia, planning is always occurring on Indigenous peoples' lands. This unit critically engages with the colonial histories and ongoing legacies of planning theory, knowledge and practice. In respectfully drawing on the experiences of Indigenous peoples throughout the world, it challenges planners to decolonise planning by recognising and valuing the critical role Indigenous peoples and their knowledges, rights and interests play in planning governance, land-use, ethics and practice. The aim of this unit is to enable planners to recognise the colonising propensities of professional planning and to contribute actively to processes and practices that decolonise planning.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Critically evaluate the colonial histories and ongoing colonising legacies of planning theory and practice.

ULO2: Recognise and value the role Indigenous peoples and their knowledges, rights and interests play in planning across cultural, spatial and political domains.

ULO3: Identify how planning knowledge, governance and ethics can be decolonised in theory and practice.

ULO4: Apply concepts to case studies to propose ways in which planning knowledges and practices can be decolonised.

General Assessment Information

Late Assessment Submission Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, a 5% penalty (of the total possible mark) will be applied each day a written assessment is not submitted, up until the 7th day (including weekends). After the 7th day, a mark of '0' (zero) will be awarded even if the assessment is submitted. Submission time for all written assessments is set at 11.55pm. A 1-hour grace period is provided to students who experience a technical issue.

This late penalty will apply to written reports and recordings only. Late submission of time sensitive tasks (such as tests/exams, performance assessments/presentations, scheduled practical assessments/labs will be addressed by the unit convenor in a Special consideration application.

- the academic teaching staff in your unit for guidance in understanding or completing this type of assessment
- the Writing Centre for academic skills support.

<sup>2</sup> Indicative time-on-task is an estimate of the time required for completion of the assessment task and is subject to individual variation

Delivery and Resources

GEOP8070 will be delivered during weekly, on campus seminars (10am-1pm). If circumstances change due to COVID please see the iLearn website for instructions.

It is essential that you complete all the preparation activities prior to the seminars so you can fully participate and contribute to activities.

All learning material for this unit will be available via the iLearn website.

Technology used and required

Students need access to a computer and basic office software (eg. Microsoft Office or OpenOffice), and course web pages to complete assessment tasks.

Using the iLearn site

The Unit's iLearn site (available via <https://ilearn.mq.edu.au>) is fundamental to delivery of the Unit.
