Unit description
Alexander the Great’s extraordinary conquests (towards the end of the fourth century BCE) opened up vast areas of the ancient Near-East to Greek influences. This unit deals with the political and cultural history of the eastern Mediterranean area, beginning with Alexander’s invasion of the Persian Empire, dealing in some detail with his personality and policies. It follows the fortunes of his successors in the third and second centuries BCE, treating the Hellenisation of native peoples and reactions to cultural change, down to and including the early first century CE, under the Roman Empire. Consideration will also be given to the place of Alexander the Great as a historical figure in the modern world.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: illustrate a broad knowledge of historical developments in the Hellenistic Age and a broad understanding of the approach of historians to the study of the period.
ULO2: examine and critically evaluate historical evidence with initiative and judgement and illustrate competency through devising and sustaining arguments and solving problems with reference to the Hellenistic Age.

ULO3: appreciate the larger issues that engage historians of the Hellenistic Age and to understand connections between the ancient world and the modern, as well as the ongoing significance of this period of the past within the modern world.

General Assessment Information

1) There are three assignments geared to the CLOs, ULOs, and relevant TSFs: a qualitative assessment, a poster, and a major essay; see iLearn site under 'Assessments and Guides' for details. All work should be submitted on turnitin.

2) LATE PENALTY: Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – 10 marks out of 100 credit will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted seven days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline.

3) IMPORTANT NOTE ON FINAL MARKS: Grading decisions for each assessment task will be moderated against the set criteria and standards before task results are released.

4) Do not plagiarise: plagiarism will not be tolerated; see the Academic Integrity Policy link in the 'Policies and Procedures' section below.

Changes from Previous Offering

The lectures are no longer face-to-face but recorded and uploaded onto the Echo 360 site every Monday.

The assignments and weightings have changed to a qualitative assessment (25%), a poster (25%), and a major essay (50%), all geared more explicitly to the CLOs, ULOs and TSFs.

The due dates of the first two assignments have changed to permit marked work to be returned to students in a more timely fashion. (Because of the nature of the major essay the due date cannot be moved from Week 13.)

New rubrics have been created, to include weightings and TSFs, for each assessment.

A General Discussion Forum + Link and Communicate Directly with Staff Dropbox + Link have been added to the iLearn sites.

An externals' discussion forum has been revamped with moderated postings linked to the tutorial topics.questions – the time for postings = about the same as the time internals would be attending and participating in face-to-face tutorials, so there is no impact to students' study time.

There will be at least one special guest class presentation – currently one by Cpt Michael Ferguson, US Army, on Alexander's military legacy, is scheduled for Week 7, replacing a tutorial so that no additional study time by students will be taken up.
