Unit description

This unit explores a variety of approaches to the study of second and foreign language acquisition in both instructed and naturalistic settings. The unit focuses on the range of factors that influence the learning/acquisition of a second language, as well as ways of studying the characteristics of learner language. Throughout the unit, participants are encouraged to reflect on the relevance of second language acquisition research to their own experiences as both language learners and professionals working in educational contexts or other language-related areas.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Explain key factors that can influence the process of second and foreign language acquisition in different learning contexts around the world, and at different stages of the human lifespan

ULO2: Analyse written and spoken learner language from a range of perspectives (including morphosyntax, lexis, phonology and pragmatics) in order to understand developmental patterns in second language acquisition

ULO3: Communicate to a professional audience knowledge of current research findings in one or more domains of individual difference in second language acquisition

ULO4: Apply knowledge of second language acquisition research to personally and professionally relevant language learning contexts

General Assessment Information

Grade descriptors and other information concerning grading are contained in the Macquarie University Assessment Policy.

All final grades are determined by a grading committee, in accordance with the Macquarie University Assessment Policy, and are not the sole responsibility of the Unit Convenor.

Students will be awarded a final grade and a mark which must correspond to the grade descriptors specified in the Assessment Procedure (clause 128).

To pass this unit, you must demonstrate sufficient evidence of achievement of the learning outcomes, meet any ungraded requirements, and achieve a final mark of 50 or better.

Further details for each assessment task will be available on iLearn.

Requesting an extension to assignment due date

On occasion, you may be in a situation when you aren't able to submit an assessment task on time. Extensions are only given in special circumstances, by completing a Special Consideration request. For more information on Special Consideration, see <https://students.mq.edu.au/study/my-study-program/special-consideration>

Late submission of assignments

If you haven't been approved for an extension and you submit your assessment task late, penalties are applied. You should consult your unit convenor if you are in this position. Late submissions will receive a 5% per day penalty. If you submit the assessment task 10 days or more beyond the due date, without an approved extension, you will be awarded a maximum of 50% of the overall assessment marks. Weekends and public holidays are included.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Online key concepts quiz	20%	Yes	27/03/2023 - 28/03/2023
Critical review	30%	Yes	25/04/2023
Making second language acquisition research accessible	50%	No	07/06/2023

Online key concepts quiz

Assessment Type ¹: Quiz/Test

Indicative Time on Task ²: 20 hours

Due: 27/03/2023 - 28/03/2023

Weighting: 20%

This is a hurdle assessment task (see assessment policy for more information on hurdle assessment tasks)

This quiz consists of multiple choice and short answer questions that students complete online.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Explain key factors that can influence the process of second and foreign language acquisition in different learning contexts around the world, and at different stages of the human lifespan
- Analyse written and spoken learner language from a range of perspectives (including morphosyntax, lexis, phonology and pragmatics) in order to understand developmental patterns in second language acquisition

Critical review

Assessment Type ¹: Reflective Writing

Indicative Time on Task ²: 28 hours

Due: 25/04/2023

Weighting: 30%

This is a hurdle assessment task (see assessment policy for more information on hurdle assessment tasks)

Students will write a guided critical commentary on two scholarly journal articles in the field of second language acquisition.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Explain key factors that can influence the process of second and foreign language acquisition in different learning contexts around the world, and at different stages of the human lifespan
- Communicate to a professional audience knowledge of current research findings in one or more domains of individual difference in second language acquisition

- Apply knowledge of second language acquisition research to personally and professionally relevant language learning contexts

Making second language acquisition research accessible

Assessment Type ¹: Media presentation

Indicative Time on Task ²: 32 hours

Due: 07/06/2023

Weighting: 50%

Students will research, script and record an informative multimedia presentation on an area of second language acquisition research.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Explain key factors that can influence the process of second and foreign language acquisition in different learning contexts around the world, and at different stages of the human lifespan
- Communicate to a professional audience knowledge of current research findings in one or more domains of individual difference in second language acquisition
- Apply knowledge of second language acquisition research to personally and professionally relevant language learning contexts

- the academic teaching staff in your unit for guidance in understanding or completing this type of assessment
- the Writing Centre for academic skills support.

² Indicative time-on-task is an estimate of the time required for completion of the assessment task and is subject to individual variation

Delivery and Resources

APPL8250 is delivered through a weekly two-hour lecture-seminar on campus. These lectures will also be offered simultaneously on Zoom, and will be recorded. It is essential to attend the weekly classes OR engage with the class recording each week. In most weeks, students will be asked to complete some reading to accompany the topics that we are studying. Details of weekly reading and links to the relevant articles and chapters can be found on the Leganto block on the APPL8250 iLearn site. There is no set textbook for this unit.

Policies and Procedures

Macquarie University policies and procedures are accessible from Policy Central \(https://policies.mq.edu.au\). Students should be aware of the following policies in particular with regard to Learning and Teaching:

Changes from Previous Offering

Please note that the assessment tasks for this unit have changed in 2023.

Inclusion and Diversity

Social inclusion at Macquarie University is about giving everyone who has the potential to benefit from higher education the opportunity to study at university, participate in campus life and flourish in their chosen field. The University has made significant moves to promote an equitable, diverse and exciting campus community for the benefit of staff and students. It is your responsibility to contribute towards the development of an inclusive culture and practice in the areas of learning and teaching, research, and service orientation and delivery. As a member of the Macquarie University community, you must not discriminate against or harass others based on their sex, gender, race, marital status, carers' responsibilities, disability, sexual orientation, age, political conviction or religious belief. All staff and students are expected to display appropriate behaviour that is conducive to a healthy learning environment for everyone.

Professionalism

In the Faculty of Medicine, Health and Human Sciences, professionalism is a key capability embedded in all our courses.

As part of developing professionalism, students are expected to attend all small group interactive sessions including clinical, practical, laboratory, work-integrated learning (e.g., PACE placements), and team-based learning activities. Some learning activities are recorded (e.g., face-to-face lectures), however you are encouraged to avoid relying upon such material as they do not recreate the whole learning experience and technical issues can and do occur. As an adult learner, we respect your decision to choose how you engage with your learning, but we would remind you that the learning opportunities we create for you have been done so to enable your success, and that by not engaging you may impact your ability to successfully complete this unit. We equally expect that you show respect for the academic staff who have worked hard to develop meaningful activities and prioritise your learning by communicating with them in advance if you are unable to attend a small group interactive session.

Another dimension of professionalism is having respect for your peers. It is the right of every student to learn in an environment that is free of disruption and distraction. Please arrive to all learning activities on time, and if you are unavoidably detained, please join activity as quietly as possible to minimise disruption. Phones and other electronic devices that produce noise and other distractions must be turned off prior to entering class. Where your own device (e.g., laptop) is being used for class-related activities, you are asked to close down all other applications to avoid distraction to you and others. Please treat your fellow students with the utmost respect. If you are uncomfortable participating in any specific activity, please let the relevant academic know.
