Unit description

This unit introduces students to teaching principles and strategies for promoting the language and literacy skills of diverse learners across the later primary school years. Building on EDST3100, the focus of EDST4100 moves from 'learning to read' and 'learning to write' to 'reading to learn' and composing effective written and multimodal texts. The unit will also examine how teachers can use oral language interactions and a range of quality everyday and literary texts in their classrooms. The pedagogic emphasis is on a continuous cycle of explicit, systematic, and evidence-based instruction for all students.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Explain the role and value of language, literacy and children's literature across the curriculum in later primary school (Yr 3 – 6) contexts.

ULO2: Apply evidence based literacy strategies for students in the later years of primary school.

ULO3: Design and implement learning experiences to support the reading and writing development of students in the later years of primary school.

General Assessment Information

- Students should be aware of and apply the University policy on academic honesty (see: <https://policies.mq.edu.au/document/view.php?id=3>)
- Unless a Special Consideration (see: <https://students.mq.edu.au/study/assessment-exams/special-consideration>) request has been submitted and approved, a 5% penalty (of the total possible mark) will be applied each day a written assessment is not submitted, up until the 7th day (including weekends). After the 7th day, a mark of, 0 (zero) will be awarded even if the assessment is submitted. Submission time for all written assessments is set at 11.55pm. 5Rs Framework

The 5Rs Framework, developed by the School of Education at Macquarie University, is embedded throughout your teacher education course. Your use of the 5Rs Framework will help you develop the following capabilities that will make your teaching career sustainable and fulfilling. In this unit, you will learn using the 5Rs framework in the following important ways:

- Resilient: Students will engage with intellectually challenging content relevant to the teaching of English in the later primary school years. They will do so with support from their peers and teaching staff in the unit. They will also consider strategies for managing competing demands such as those of children from diverse linguistic, cultural and socio-economic backgrounds and of curriculum objects in different KLAs.
- Reflexive: Videos, hands-on activities and school-based scenarios are employed to encourage students to reflect on and select suitable model texts for teaching English in the later primary years and develop differentiated teaching and learning activities that support cross-curricular integration in diverse classrooms. The assessment tasks in this unit build on knowledge students have developed in this and previous English units as well as in their professional experience placements. Task 2 also requires students to draw on the feedback they have received in Task 1.
- Responsive: This unit has a strong focus on developing effective, research-informed language and literacy pedagogies for supporting the engagement of all students in diverse classrooms, and for promoting social justice for learners experiencing difficulties in literacy learning, Indigenous students, and children with EAL/D (English as an additional language or dialect) learners.
- Ready to learn: The unit fosters positive attitudes towards lifelong professional learning about language and literacy education. Students will consolidate and expand previously developed knowledge and skills related to teaching English in primary school. Students are expected to come to tutorials prepared for learning, having completed prior reading and other tasks so they can contribute meaningfully to small group and class discussions through relevant questions and perspectives.
- Research-engaged: Students engage with research-informed lecture content, tutorials and scholarly readings. Assessment tasks ask students to complete linguistic and multimodal text analyses and apply the findings to the design of activities that address the outcomes for English in the later primary school grades. The unit also introduces students to cutting-edge research on language and literacy pedagogies and development in the later primary school years, with a strong focus on relevant projects by researchers at MQ School of Education.
