Unit description

Did you know that the consumption of streaming video is responsible for the majority of global internet usage today? In recent times, the remarkable prominence of streaming media has changed the way we engage with online spaces, and how we understand and experience other media such as radio and film. This unit focuses in particular on the rise of streaming television, analysing the production and consumption of moving image content on the web and on purpose-built streaming platforms like Netflix. By considering questions of genre, industrial practice, policy and platform specificity, we will explore the various dimensions of television as we now know it, and will examine some of the unique changes that the medium has undergone in our lifetime.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: identify key debates, themes and concepts in the broad field of television studies.

ULO2: demonstrate a knowledge of television history and theory.

ULO4: analyse television critically according to genres, form and cultural contexts.

ULO3: evaluate and distinguish between different modes of streaming television.

ULO5: research independently in the discipline, including identifying and using appropriate articles in academic journals.

General Assessment Information

*Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, a 5% penalty (of the total possible mark) will be applied each day a written assessment is not submitted, up until the 7th day (including weekends). After the 7th day, a mark of '0' (zero) will be awarded even if the assessment is submitted. Submission time for all written assessments is set at 11.55pm. A 1-hour grace period is provided to students who experience a technical issue. This late penalty will apply to written reports and recordings only. Late submission of time sensitive tasks (such as tests/exams, performance assessments/presentations, scheduled practical assessments/labs will be addressed by the unit convenor in a Special consideration application.

Delivery and Resources

Lectures

Lectures will take place each Tuesday from 1PM-2PM in the T3 Theatre at 14 Sir Christopher Ondaatje Ave. These lectures will also be live streamed, and recorded and uploaded to Echo360 on the same day.

Tutorials

Tutorials are available both online and face-to-face, and begin in Week 2. Please note, you must attend the tutorial you are enrolled in. If you wish to change your tutorial time you can do so via eStudent. Your tutor/lecturer will not be able to change your tutorial enrolment. Do not turn up to a tutorial in which you are not enrolled. We cannot accept extra students into a fully enrolled tutorial. Students are required to prepare for tutorials by having attended or viewed the lecture, having viewed the required screenings, and having completed the week's readings and prepared questions and notes.

Please note, too, that only students who are enrolled in the online offering of the unit may attend online classes.

Please consult the MQ timetable for up to date timetabling of lectures and tutorials.

Required Screenings

Each week there are one or more television episodes required for viewing. While some of these episodes may be made available through portals offered by the Macquarie University library, or on free streaming services available in Australia, the majority of the focus for this unit will be on the streaming service Netflix. For this reason, students will be required to subscribe to Netflix in order to access screenings throughout the semester.

Required and Recommended Readings

All readings will be available online through the Leganto link on iLearn. There is a list of further recommended reading for each topic - please refer to iLearn.
