Unit description
Property law lies at the heart of our legal system. Jeremy Bentham once aptly observed: 'Property and Law are born together and die together. Before laws were made there was no property; take away law, and property ceases'. This unit provides a contextual analysis and outline of the Anglo-Australian law on property and covers such topics as the history and theory of property law; systems of title to, and resolution of competing interests in, property; concurrent ownership of property; native title; and mortgages, leases, easement and covenants in relation to real property.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Explain the historical development of Australian property law, as well as its international, cultural, political and colonial context.
ULO2: Understand and critically analyse the law relating to Native Title.
ULO3: Understand the creation and enforceability of legal and equitable interests in property and the priority rules that apply between them.
ULO4: Understand and critically analyse the Torrens system, including strata title.
ULO5: Understand and critically analyse a range of interests in real and personal property.
General Assessment Information

Late Assessment Submission Penalty

- Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, a 5% penalty (of the total possible mark) will be applied each day a written assessment is not submitted, up until the 7th day (including weekends).
- After the 7th day, a mark of 0 (zero) will be awarded even if the assessment is submitted.
- Submission time for all written assessments is set at 11.55pm. A 1-hour grace period is provided to students who experience a technical issue.
- This late penalty will apply to non-time-sensitive assessment (incl essays, reports, posters, portfolios, journals, recordings etc).
- Late submission of time-sensitive tasks (such as tests/exams, performance assessments/presentations, scheduled practical assessments/labs etc) will only be addressed by the unit convenor in a Special Consideration application.
- Special Consideration outcome may result in a new question or topic.

Delivery and Resources

Please note, all readings and course content is contained in the online textbook on iLearn. There is no hardcopy or e-copy text that students need to purchase. Students must complete their reading each week.

2 hour tutorials will be held each week for students to discuss the law, ask questions and practise the application of law. Participation will be assessed.

A 2 hour lecture will be given each week, for students to ideally attend in person, or listen to online. However, the lectures are not the primary delivery of course content. Course content is contained in the readings.

Unit Schedule

Topics covered:

1. History of Anglo-Australian land law
2. Native Title
3. Torrens system
4. Co-ownership
5. Leases
6. Mortgages
7. Easements
8. Freehold covenants
9. Personal Property

A week by week schedule is available on iLearn.

Changes from Previous Offering

1. Property Law is being taught in two hour weekly tutorials this year, not one hour tutorials. As a result, they will have 60 students, rather than 30. This is the same model that is used for Equity and Trusts. While tutorial sizes are larger, they have double the amount of time for discussion, application and clarification of the law. There is a total of 26 hours in the semester for students to contribute to class, ask questions, and earn class participation marks. In staff experience, the significantly extended time is more valuable for learning than smaller class sizes.

2. The Legal Practitioners Admission Board, which decides which degrees qualify graduates for legal practice in NSW, now requires 50% of the assessment for 'Priestley 11' units to be formal, invigilated assessment. The Priestley 11 are the subjects that students must pass to practise law (Professor Priestley chaired the committee that determined this in the early 1990s). As a result, the final assessment for Property is a face-to-face, formal, invigilated exam on campus. Students will be able to take in one double-sided sheet of paper, with typed or handwritten notes, but no other materials. Details of MQ exams are on the University website and further details of the content and form of the exam are on iLearn.
