Unit description
This unit covers the study of legal regulation of family relations. Although a great number of laws have a bearing on the 'family', this unit focuses on the Marriage Act 1961 (Cth) and the Family Law Act 1975 (Cth). The unit is divided into five main parts: the concept of family and its historical development; the concept of marriage; dissolution of marriage; financial relationships, especially when they breakdown; children and their rights under family law. An interdisciplinary approach to family law will enable students to analyse the interrelationship between the state, law and society.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: describe and explain links between sociological, historical, philosophical and political perspectives on the family and developments in areas of family policy and law.

ULO2: explain and analyse how multidisciplinary ideas about the family shape state family policies and laws and, in turn, how these policies and laws regulate family life.
ULO3: critically evaluate legal mechanisms relating to the resolution of family disputes, including alternative dispute resolution mechanisms.

ULO4: critically evaluate legal principles (statute and case law) and consider the role of law reform in the area of Family Law in relation to inequality in society.

ULO5: communicate arguments related to the area of Family Law effectively in written and verbal form appropriate to a range of audiences.

General Assessment Information

Special Consideration:
All applications for special consideration must be made through Ask. Please refer to the University policy on special consideration on how to apply.

Late Assessment Submission Penalty
Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, a 5% penalty (of the total possible mark) will be applied each day a written assessment is not submitted, up until the 7th day (including weekends). After the 7th day, a mark of ‘0’ (zero) will be awarded even if the assessment is submitted. Submission time for all written assessments is set at 11.55pm. A 1-hour grace period is provided to students who experience a technical issue.

This late penalty will apply to non-timed sensitive assessment (incl essays, reports, posters, portfolios, journals, recordings etc). Late submission of time sensitive tasks (such as tests/exams, performance assessments/presentations, scheduled practical assessments/labs etc) will only be addressed by the unit convenor in a Special consideration application. Special Consideration outcome may result in a new question or topic.

Note the first paragraph applies to the essays, and the second paragraph applies to the participatory tasks.

Submission:
The written essays are to be submitted electronically by way of Turnitin on the iLearn page. Plagiarism detection software is used in this unit. Please submit in Word format and not in PDF.

Moderation
Detailed marking rubrics will be made available on iLearn. If there are other markers assisting the convenor then a process of ‘blind marking’ to establish a common marking standard will be adopted and all Fail papers will be double marked.

Delivery and Resources

Delivery:
The learning activities in this unit include listening to 12 x 2 hour lectures and attending 12 hours of weekly tutorials.

Lectures commence in Week 1 of the semester. Tutorials commence in Week 2.

The lectures will be recorded at the start of the week prior to the scheduled tutorials and posted to echo360 on the iLearn page. The location for the in-person tutorials can be found in eStudent and the links for the online tutorials will be available on iLearn.

Students will be required to use a computer to interact with online research databases and web based research tools.

The unit uses an ilearn website. Students should check iLearn regularly for announcements and updates.

Participatory Tasks (on-call tutorials):

Preparation: Reading the prescribed materials and preparing for class discussions as per the weekly tutorial questions available on iLearn.

Attendance: Lectures will be pre-recorded weekly, starting in Week 1. Tutorials begin in Week 2 and end in Week 13. Students will be on-call and will be assessed for participation in the tutorials to which they are allocated. Attendance is compulsory for students when they are on-call. On-call allocations will be posted on iLearn at the end of Week 1. If you know in advance you are unable to attend a tutorial please contact the unit convenor before the end of Week 1. From the start of Week 2 onwards, students must apply for special consideration if they miss an allocated on-call tutorial. As there is a public holiday on Easter Monday, 1 April 2024, class participation will not be assessed that week (week 7). If a student misses a tutorial when they are scheduled to be on-call and they meet the Special Consideration policy, they should apply for special consideration through Ask.mq.edu.au. After their special consideration application is approved, they will be need to contact the unit convenor privately on iLearn for an alternative assessment.

Rubric: A detailed rubric on how class participation will be assessed will be available on iLearn.

Research Essay 1

Research essay on a set topic based on Lectures 1-7 and related readings in the unit readings. The topic will be available on iLearn in the Assessment tab in Week 2.

Research Essay 2

Research essay on a set topic based on Lectures 8-12 and related readings in the unit readings. The topic will be available on iLearn in the mid-semester break.
General instructions for both essays:

Word Length:

The maximum word length for both essays is 2000 words. The word limit will be strictly applied and work above the word limit will not be marked.

Format:

Footnotes and Bibliography are required for both essays but will not be included in the word count.

The body of the essays and all the footnotes and bibliographies are required in AGLC4 style.

The essays should be double spaced in 12 pt Times New Roman. The footnotes can be in 10 pt Times New Roman. The bibliography can be single spaced with a space in between each reference.

Research for both essays:

Students may use the prescribed unit readings but are expected to research beyond these materials. Each student must determine for themselves how many additional references they need to support the development of their argument. The essay will not be assessed on how much research has been done, but on how well the research materials are used to advance the argument.

Rubrics: Further instructions on how to complete the essays and how they will be assessed will be available on iLearn.

Resources:

Students will be provided with a reading list for each week in iLearn and those sources will be available in Leganto.

It is recommended that students purchase Harland, Cooper, Turnbull, and Rundle Family Law Principles (Thomson Reuters, revised 3rd ed, 2023) as this provides a practical foundation for studying family law and will be referred to throughout the course. There will be limited access to the online version of this text in the library.

Tutorial questions and additional readings will also be on iLearn.

Here are instructions for purchasing the textbook:
