Unit description
Demographic factors are important in affecting market segmentation and business behaviour. Managers in private and public sectors often utilise and analyse relevant demographic data to assist their decision making. In this unit, students learn the application of a range of demographic techniques in analysing and understanding market segmentation and demographically diverse business behaviour. Students are provided with access to the major sources of demographic data and employ data analytics tools. Contemporary demographic issues are examined in a range of contexts.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Identify and describe demographic concepts and techniques to analyse consumer populations in Australia and other countries.

ULO2: Gain practical skills on evaluating data, information and literature to solve problems.

ULO3: Analyse aspects of sustainable development, such as the impacts of demographic changes on resources, consumption, and business decision making.
General Assessment Information

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, a 5% penalty (of the total possible mark) will be applied each day a written assessment is not submitted, up until the 7th day (including weekends). After the 7th day, a grade of '0' will be awarded even if the assessment is submitted. Submission time for all written assessments is set at 11.55pm. A 1-hour grace period is provided to students who experience a technical concern. For any late submissions of time-sensitive tasks, such as scheduled tests/exams, performance assessments/presentations, and/or scheduled practical assessments/labs, students need to apply for Special Consideration.
