Unit description

This unit provides students with a grounding in the key methodological and theoretical approaches relevant to the study of global politics and the world system. The unit begins with the breakdown of the key methodological, epistemological and ontological camps in global politics and theory. It then explores the historical emergence of traditional approaches such as realism, liberalism and Marxism and their outlines their competing perspectives and associated research methodologies. The unit concludes by considering more recent approaches, including feminism, critical theory, constructivism, postcolonialism, postmodernism and green theory. Students will gain an understanding of the critical intersections between theory and methods in the context of world politics.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Demonstrate an understanding of the aims and philosophical considerations underpinning thought in the political sphere

ULO2: Utilise different methods and methodologies relevant to global politics

ULO3: Critically evaluate complex International Relations theories and situate them within their broader context

ULO4: Analyse and critically assess scholarly texts in International Relations

ULO5: Integrate theories and methods to address contemporary challenges in global politics

General Assessment Information

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, a 5% penalty (of the total possible mark) will be applied each day a written assessment is not submitted, up until the 7th day (including weekends). After the 7th day, a mark of '0' (zero) will be awarded even if the assessment is submitted. Submission time for all written assessments is set at 11.55pm. A 1-hour grace period is provided to students who experience a technical issue. This late penalty will apply to non-timed sensitive assessment (incl essays, reports, posters, portfolios, journals, recordings etc). Late submission of time sensitive tasks (such as tests/exams, performance assessments/presentations, scheduled practical assessments/labs etc) will only be addressed by the unit convenor in a Special consideration application. Special Consideration outcome may result in a new question or topic
