Unit description This course canvasses several of the most compelling and contentious issues in global media. With a focus on how developments in media and communication technologies reframe social, cultural, political and economic phenomena, this unit surveys key historical developments to better appreciate and understand contemporary issues in global media.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Explain the underlying theories and concepts that shape contemporary global media issues, demonstrating comprehension of how these factors influence media production, distribution, and consumption on a global scale.

ULO2: Analyse and assess the impact of contemporary global media issues on various societal, cultural, economic, and political contexts worldwide, applying theoretical frameworks to real-world case studies or examples.

ULO3: Critically evaluate the ethical implications and challenges posed by contemporary global media issues, considering diverse perspectives and proposing solutions or strategies to address these challenges in a global media landscape.

ULO4: Communicate complex ideas effectively through various media formats. Develop strong presentation skills, both in written and oral forms, enabling the articulation of creative concepts and project outcomes to diverse audiences.
