Unit description

This unit examines the evolution of money and finance from ancient times to the present. It provides students with an understanding of the nature of money, the role and characteristics of financial markets, and the instruments and institutions that affect them. The central theme is that innovation in money and finance has been as important as other types of innovation in shaping the modern world. Topics may include the nature of money, interest rate determination and the yield curve, central banking and the actions of monetary authorities, the innovations of behavioural finance and crypto-currencies, analyses of money markets, bond markets, equity and derivatives markets.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Identify, define and analyse contemporary issues in money and finance.

ULO2: Demonstrate a capacity to work independently, including the ability to research, form arguments and write professionally proficient short-discussion pieces.

ULO3: Critique the academic literature, examining alternative and creative ways of thinking about financial markets in business and policy environments.

General Assessment Information

Late Assessment Submission Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, a 5% penalty (of the total possible mark) will be applied each day a written assessment is not submitted, up until the 7th day (including weekends). After the 7th day, a grade of '0' will be awarded even if the assessment is submitted. Submission time for all written assessments is set at 11.59 pm. A 1-hour grace period is provided to students who experience a technical concern.

For any late submissions of time-sensitive tasks, such as scheduled tests/exams, performance assessments/presentations, and/or scheduled practical assessments/labs, students need to submit an application for Special Consideration.

Delivery and Resources

This unit includes a weekly 2-hour lecture (either face to face or online, Wednesday 1-3pm) and one 1-hour tutorial. Students are highly encouraged to attend the lecture and tutorial every week to get the most benefits out of this unit such as to perform better in the test and exam, and to enhance employability.

All materials for the unit, such as recorded lectures, lecture notes, readings, practice questions and discussion questions, will be available to students on the unit iLearn site at <http://ilearn.mq.edu.au>. Students are strongly recommended to check the unit iLearn page weekly for all these materials and any announcements.

Recommended Textbooks and Materials

The selected textbook for Econ2050 is The Economics of Money, Banking and Financial Markets, 13th Global Edition, by Frederic Mishkin. However, only a selection of chapters of this textbook will be covered, while the following texts and Materials are also recommended:

- (i) Kidwell, D. et al. 2019, Financial Markets, Institutions and Money (4th ed), Australian Edition, John Wiley & Sons Australia.
- (ii) Madura, J. 2018, Financial Markets and Institutions (12th ed.), Cengage Learning,
- (iii) Niall Ferguson (2008) 'The Ascent of Money', Allen Lane (Penguin), London.

This book provides an overview of the history of money and finance (Topic 2, see below). What makes this different from most books recommended for courses such as this is that it is also great fun to read with an evolutionary/historical approach – full of drama, violence, scandal, passion, crime, and so on – in short, all the things that drive money and finance. It takes its story up to mid-2008. A television series on the book was also made in 2008, and it is available on YouTube simply by searching 'The Ascent of Money' and 'Niall Ferguson'.

- (iv) Felix Martin (2014) 'Money: The Unauthorized Biography--From Coinage to Cryptocurrencies'. Here is the review of the book from the New York Times:

<https://www.nytimes.com/2014/04/13/books/review/money-by-felix-martin.html>

(v) Mervyn King (2016) 'The end of Alchemy: Money, Banking and the future of the Global Economy'. Here is the review of the book from the New York Times: <http://www.nybooks.com/articles/2016/07/14/money-brave-new-uncertainty-mervyn-king/>

(vi) Glyn Davies (2016) 'A History of money from ancient times to the present day', 4th. Ed. Revised by Duncan Connors, Cardiff: University of Wales Press.
