Unit description

Money laundering enables criminals to transfer illicit funds from various illegal activities such as tax evasion, fraud, corruption, drug trafficking, theft, and people smuggling into legitimate financial systems, concealing their origins. Terrorism financing poses a serious threat, as even small amounts of illegitimate funds can fund terrorist activities. Countries that allow unchecked illicit activities jeopardise national security, undermine financial institutions, and threaten the international financial system. This unit explores key provisions, obligations, and compliance requirements for financial institutions and reporting entities, including Designated Non-Financial Businesses and Professions (DNFBPs), to combat money laundering and terrorism financing effectively.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Critically analyse the development of financial crime norms and theories of compliance in international and domestic contexts.

ULO2: Evaluate the interaction of binding and non-binding financial crime norms with legislative reforms in selected jurisdictions.

ULO3: Critique deviations from traditional international lawmaking processes and analyse emerging forms of governance in relation to anti-money laundering and counter-terrorist financing.

ULO4: Analyse and interpret hard and soft law norms in promoting financial integrity and effectively communicate these concepts to both specialist and non-specialist audiences.

ULO5: Critically assess motives to comply with anti-money laundering and counter-terrorist financing regimes across various jurisdictions, including Australia.

General Assessment Information

General Assessment Information

Late Assessment Submission Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, a 5% penalty (of the total possible mark) will be applied each day a written assessment is not submitted until the seventh day (including weekends). After the seventh day, a mark of '0' (zero) will be awarded even if the assessment is submitted. Submission time for all written assessments is set at 11:55 p.m. Students who experience a technical issue are given a one-hour grace period.

*This late penalty will apply to non-timed sensitive assessments (including essays, reports, posters, portfolios, journals, recordings, etc). Late submission of time-sensitive tasks (such as tests/exams, performance assessments/presentations, scheduled practical assessments/labs, etc) will only be addressed by the unit convenor in a Special consideration application. Special Consideration outcome may result in a new question or topic.
