Unit description

From its first gestures in the early twentieth century in radio and film to current multimedia experiments, the documentary has proved to be a resilient and compelling form. This unit examines the development of documentary and its current relationship to rapidly proliferating digital technologies across a range of formats - including radio, television and broadcasting, cinema, podcasting and online.

The unit considers the implication of documentary's aesthetic and rhetorical strategies in fashioning our relationship to the real and its corresponding status as a way of knowing and of experiencing the world. It also exposes students to the large body of work surrounding documentary media. Topics covered include questions of style/form; auteurship and notions of authenticity; the documentary idea within photography, film culture and public service radio; changing concepts and notions of the real; and the hybridisation of documentary as it develops across a range of mobile, immersive and online platforms.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: analyse the historical production context of both early and contemporary audio and audiovisual documentary works.

ULO2: evaluate key modes relating to both historical and contemporary documentary production.

ULO3: apply key documentary concepts in the analysis of a range of audio and audiovisual non-fiction works.

ULO4: evaluate and reflect on the relationship of current trends in audio and audiovisual documentary works to the contemporary digital environment.

General Assessment Information

Delivery and Resources

Lectures

Lectures will take place each Tuesday from 10-11AM in the T1 Theatre at 10 Hadenfeld Ave (10HA). These lectures will also be live streamed, and recorded and uploaded to Echo360 on the same day.

Tutorials

Tutorials are available both online and face-to-face, and begin in Week 2. Please note, you must attend the tutorial you are enrolled in. If you wish to change your tutorial time you can do so via eStudent. Your tutor/lecturer will not be able to change your tutorial enrolment. Do not turn up to a tutorial in which you are not enrolled. We cannot accept extra students into a fully enrolled tutorial. Students are required to prepare for tutorials by having attended or viewed the lecture, having viewed the required screenings, and having completed the week's readings and prepared questions and notes.

Please note, too, that only students who are enrolled in the online offering of the unit may attend online classes.

Please consult the MQ timetable for up to date timetabling of lectures and tutorials.

Required Screenings

In most weeks, there is a required film or episode to view. These audiovisual works are available online through ClickView via the library website, or online elsewhere as specified. See iLearn for more details.

Required and Recommended Readings

All readings will be available online through the Leganto link on iLearn. There is a list of further recommended reading for each topic - please refer to iLearn.
