Unit description

Everyone has a story—and in this unit, you'll learn how to uncover, research, and tell those stories with care, creativity, and historical insight. This unit introduces you to the tools and techniques of genealogical and biographical research, helping you trace family histories and bring individual lives into historical focus. Whether you're interested in your own ancestry or the lives of others, this unit will help you become a thoughtful and skilled life historian.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Apply genealogical and biographical research methods to uncover personal and family histories.

ULO2: Analyse how personal narratives intersect with broader historical, cultural, and social contexts.

ULO3: Communicate family and biographical histories through visual, written, and reflective formats.

ULO4: Reflect critically on ethical and methodological issues in life history research.

General Assessment Information

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, a 5% penalty (of the total possible mark) will be applied each day a written assessment is not submitted, up until the 7th day (including weekends). After the 7th day, a mark of '0' (zero) will be awarded even if the assessment is submitted. Submission time for all written assessments is set at 11.55pm. A 1-hour grace period is provided to students who experience a technical issue.

This late penalty will apply to non-timed sensitive assessment (incl essays, reports, posters, portfolios, journals, recordings etc). Late submission of time sensitive tasks (such as tests/exams, performance assessments/presentations, scheduled practical assessments/labs etc) will only be addressed by the unit convenor in a Special consideration application. Special Consideration outcome may result in a new question or topic.
