Unit description
This unit includes a study of different approaches to curriculum decision making which can be applied to a variety of early childhood settings including Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander contexts. Students develop the skills needed to undertake planning and programming for young children. In addition, students explore the issues involved in the implementation of an anti-bias and socially just curriculum. The field experience component of this unit is with children in an early childhood service. It includes a series of observation days and a 15 day teaching block.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://students.mq.edu.au/important-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:
plan, implement and evaluate sequenced learning experiences for young children;
recognise the significance of acknowledging diversity in early childhood settings facilitate appropriate experiences to promote Indigenous children's educational achievement within the total learning environment;
reflect upon and document the learning of young children
identify and develop an integrated approach in your curriculum decision making refine your teaching practices as an early childhood teacher, particularly with reference to Indigenous children;
critically evaluate your teaching practices and your record keeping processes
demonstrate your understanding of the role of the reflective practitioner
develop confidence in justifying professional decisions and deal with issues and principles for decision-making in early childhood settings.

Graduate Capabilities

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- plan, implement and evaluate sequenced learning experiences for young children;

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- plan, implement and evaluate sequenced learning experiences for young children;
- recognise the significance of acknowledging diversity in early childhood settings
- facilitate appropriate experiences to promote Indigenous children’s educational achievement within the total learning environment;

- develop confidence in justifying professional decisions and
- deal with issues and principles for decision-making in early childhood settings.

Assessment tasks

- Evidence based practice
- Planning Formats
- Professional Experience
- Reflection

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:
Learning outcomes

• reflect upon and document the learning of young children
• identify and develop an integrated approach in your curriculum decision making
• critically evaluate your teaching practices and your record keeping processes
• demonstrate your understanding of the role of the reflective practitioner
• develop confidence in justifying professional decisions and
• deal with issues and principles for decision-making in early childhood settings.

Assessment tasks

• Evidence based practice
• Planning Formats
• Professional Experience
• Documenting Learning

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

• reflect upon and document the learning of young children
• identify and develop an integrated approach in your curriculum decision making
• refine your teaching practices as an early childhood teacher, particularly with reference to Indigenous children;

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- plan, implement and evaluate sequenced learning experiences for young children;
- facilitate appropriate experiences to promote Indigenous children’s educational achievement within the total learning environment;
- reflect upon and document the learning of young children
- identify and develop an integrated approach in your curriculum decision making

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation’s historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- recognise the significance of acknowledging diversity in early childhood settings

Assessment tasks

- Professional Experience
- Reflection
Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- recognise the significance of acknowledging diversity in early childhood settings
- facilitate appropriate experiences to promote Indigenous children’s educational achievement within the total learning environment;

Assessment task

- Professional Experience

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- plan, implement and evaluate sequenced learning experiences for young children;
- recognise the significance of acknowledging diversity in early childhood settings
- facilitate appropriate experiences to promote Indigenous children’s educational achievement within the total learning environment;
- refine your teaching practices as an early childhood teacher, particularly with reference to Indigenous children;

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- critically evaluate your teaching practices and your record keeping processes
- demonstrate your understanding of the role of the reflective practitioner
- develop confidence in justifying professional decisions and
- deal with issues and principles for decision-making in early childhood settings.
