Unit description

This unit relates to and continues on from LAW316 and focuses on equitable notions of property, with a particular emphasis of the law of trusts, but also covering the historical development of equity and its relationship to common law, the assignment and other dispositions of property in equity, the obligation of confidence in equity with respect to information, and fiduciary obligations. This unit will provide students with a theoretical grounding in the relevant principles as well as equip with the capacity to apply these principles in practice.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Demonstrate a thorough understanding of legal principles relating to equity and trusts
Demonstrate an enquiring, critical, analytical and thoughtful approach to equitable property interests and their place in the overall scheme of property interests

Formulate, present and evaluate oral and written arguments about equity and trusts, drawing upon relevant precedent and policy considerations

Analyse hypothetical fact situations, identify legal and factual issues involving the law relating to equity and trusts, and apply relevant principles to solve legal problems

Demonstrate sophisticated research, writing and referencing skills appropriate to students undertaking a 300 level unit

Take responsibility for one's own learning by managing one's time effectively so as to be able to undertake readings for weekly seminars on time as well as complete and submit assessment items on time

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Quiz	10%	28 August 2013
Assignment	30%	10 am, 9 September 2013
Final Examination (Take Home)	60%	5 pm, 9 November 2013

Quiz

Due: 28 August 2013

Weighting: 10%

This assessment task's purpose is to engage students with their unit early in the semester and to provide an opportunity for relatively early feedback. The quiz will consist of twenty (20) multiple choice questions.

The quiz questions will be drawn from the topics covered in the first four weeks of lectures (see Unit Schedule for details). To answer the quiz questions, students will be expected to have listened to the said lectures and have read the required readings for the topics covered in the those lectures.

All students must complete the quiz online.

Students will be able to commence the quiz between 4-00 pm and 8-30 pm on Wednesday, 28 August 2013. Students will be allowed 25 minutes to complete the quiz.

If, for justifiable reasons, a student is unable to do the quiz at the above time or his or her performance in the quiz is adversely affected, he or she may submit an application for Special Consideration, which, if granted, will enable the student to complete a replacement quiz at a time determined by the unit convenor. The topics covered by the replacement quiz will not be the same as for the above quiz. Students will be advised by the convenor what topics will be covered in the replacement quiz.

Any student who does not complete this assessment item on time or at all, will receive: (i) a zero mark for it; and (ii) a mark for the unit of no more than 49/100, irrespective of marks gained in any other assessment item.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate a thorough understanding of legal principles relating to equity and trusts
- Take responsibility for one's own learning by managing one's time effectively so as to be able to undertake readings for weekly seminars on time as well as complete and submit assessment items on time

Assignment

Due: 10 am, 9 September 2013

Weighting: 30%

The Assignment in this unit is a research paper. The research question will be available on iLearn by the end of the first week of semester. The research paper must be a properly referenced formal response with appropriate analysis and argument supported by relevant authoritative cases and commentary. The research paper must be typed and must be kept to a maximum 1,500 words (excluding footnotes and the bibliography). The actual word length must be stated on the Assignment's coversheet. In completing their research paper, students must comply with the Australian Guide to Legal Citation, compiled by the Melbourne University Law Review. The Guide is available for download free at:

<http://www.law.unimelb.edu.au/mulr/aglc.htm>.

Further instructions in relation to the assignment, including on how to submit it, will be posted on iLearn.

If, for justifiable reasons, a student is unable to submit the Assignment on time, he or she may submit an application for Special Consideration. If Special Consideration is granted the student will be given a different research question to be completed at a time determined by the unit convenor in consultation with the student.

Any student who does not submit the Assignment on time or at all, will receive: (i) a zero mark for the this assessment item; and (ii) a mark for the unit of no more than 49/100, irrespective of marks gained in any other assessment item.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate a thorough understanding of legal principles relating to equity and trusts
- Formulate, present and evaluate oral and written arguments about equity and trusts, drawing upon relevant precedent and policy considerations

- Demonstrate sophisticated research, writing and referencing skills appropriate to students undertaking a 300 level unit

Final Examination (Take Home)

Due: 5 pm, 9 November 2013

Weighting: 60%

The final examination in this unit will be a take home examination.

The final examination will be based on material covered in the unit, ie all topics and materials covered in the unit.

The final examination will be in the form of a number of problem style questions. All questions will have to be answered.

Students will be able to access the final examination paper on iLearn from 9 am on Saturday, 9 November 2013 and must submit their answers to the final examination paper by 5 pm on Saturday 9 November 2013.

A student's answers to the final examination paper's questions cannot exceed 2,500 words (exclusive of footnotes). This is an upper word limit and a student need not write 2,500 words if he or she can answer the questions in less than 2,500 words. A bibliography is not required.

The answers to the final examination paper's questions must be a properly referenced with appropriate analysis and argument supported by relevant authority. The answers must be typed.

Further instructions in relation to the final examination, including on how to submit answers to its questions, will be posted on iLearn.

If, for justifiable reasons, a student is unable to do the final examination at the above time or his or her performance in the final examination is adversely affected, he or she should submit an application for Special Consideration, which, if granted, will enable the student to complete a supplementary examination. The supplementary examination will be the final examination set for students who take this unit when it is next offered by the University.

Any student who does not submit answers to the final examination or supplementary examination, as the case may be, on time or at all, will receive a zero mark for the this assessment item.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate a thorough understanding of legal principles relating to equity and trusts
- Demonstrate an enquiring, critical, analytical and thoughtful approach to equitable property interests and their place in the overall scheme of property interests
- Analyse hypothetical fact situations, identify legal and factual issues involving the law relating to equity and trusts, and apply relevant principles to solve legal problems
- Take responsibility for one's own learning by managing one's time effectively so as to be able to undertake readings for weekly seminars on time as well as complete and submit assessment items on time

Delivery and Resources

DELIVERY OF UNIT

Weekly Lectures (Internal Students)

Weekly lectures in this unit will be pre-recorded and available to students through the link on iLearn. Weekly lectures will commence in Week 1 of the semester and go through to Week 12 of the semester.

There will not be any live lectures in this unit.

Weekly Lectures (Distance Students)

The weekly lectures that are available to internal students will also be available to distance students through the link on iLearn.

Weekly Tutorials (Internal Students)

For internal students, weekly tutorials of two (2) hours duration commence in Week 2 of the semester (ie the week beginning Monday 5 August 2013). The last tutorial will be in Week 13.

Attendance at tutorials does not form any part of any assessment item.

For tutorial times and classrooms students should consult the MQ Timetable website: <http://www.timetables.mq.edu.au>. This website will display up-to-date information on classes and classroom locations.

The problem and discussion questions for each tutorial are available on iLearn.

Generally, the questions for each tutorial will be on topics covered in the previous week's lecture.

On Campus Sessions (Distance Students)

For distance students, on campus sessions will be held as follows:

	Date	Time	Location
Session 1	16 Sept 2013	9-00 am-4-00 pm	Macquarie Uni
Session 2	17 Sept 2013	9-00 am-4-00 pm	Macquarie Uni

Attendance at the on campus sessions for distance students is compulsory. If for justifiable reasons a student cannot attend one or both days of the on campus sessions, he or she must submit an application for Special Consideration. Successful applications will usually be granted on condition that the student submit such written work as may be prescribed by the unit convenor.

Students must sign the attendance roll at the office of the Centre for Open Education on each day of the on campus sessions.

Unless a student's absence from attending the on campus sessions is approved, failure to attend both days of the on campus sessions will result in his or her exclusion from the unit.

Distance students will be divided into two groups for the on campus sessions.

Group One will be those students whose surnames commence with the letters A to G.

Group Two will be those students whose surnames commence with the letters H to Z.

Prior to the on campus sessions students will be advised of the rooms in which the on campus sessions will be held.

The topics for the on campus sessions will be those covered weeks 1-7 of the lecture program.

The problem and discussion questions for the on campus sessions will be made available on iLearn.

Graduate Capabilities

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Formulate, present and evaluate oral and written arguments about equity and trusts, drawing upon relevant precedent and policy considerations
- Take responsibility for one's own learning by managing one's time effectively so as to be able to undertake readings for weekly seminars on time as well as complete and submit assessment items on time

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Demonstrate a thorough understanding of legal principles relating to equity and trusts
- Demonstrate an enquiring, critical, analytical and thoughtful approach to equitable property interests and their place in the overall scheme of property interests

Assessment tasks

- Quiz
- Assignment
- Final Examination (Take Home)

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Demonstrate an enquiring, critical, analytical and thoughtful approach to equitable property interests and their place in the overall scheme of property interests
- Formulate, present and evaluate oral and written arguments about equity and trusts, drawing upon relevant precedent and policy considerations
- Analyse hypothetical fact situations, identify legal and factual issues involving the law relating to equity and trusts, and apply relevant principles to solve legal problems
- Demonstrate sophisticated research, writing and referencing skills appropriate to students undertaking a 300 level unit

Assessment tasks

- Assignment
- Final Examination (Take Home)

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Demonstrate an enquiring, critical, analytical and thoughtful approach to equitable property interests and their place in the overall scheme of property interests
- Formulate, present and evaluate oral and written arguments about equity and trusts, drawing upon relevant precedent and policy considerations
- Analyse hypothetical fact situations, identify legal and factual issues involving the law relating to equity and trusts, and apply relevant principles to solve legal problems
- Take responsibility for one's own learning by managing one's time effectively so as to be able to undertake readings for weekly seminars on time as well as complete and submit assessment items on time

Assessment tasks

- Assignment
- Final Examination (Take Home)

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Demonstrate sophisticated research, writing and referencing skills appropriate to students undertaking a 300 level unit

Assessment task

- Assignment
