Unit description
This unit is an introduction to Coptic, the final stage of the Egyptian script and language. An understanding of Coptic is necessary for advanced study of late antique and Christian Egypt, and is of great benefit to those studying earlier phases of the Egyptian language. This unit focuses on the Sahidic ('Upper Egyptian') dialect, the first Coptic dialect into which biblical texts were translated in the third century. Sahidic became a pan-Egyptian written dialect in the fourth and following centuries, and boasts a rich literature, both original and translated.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- Recognize and recall Coptic script and phonetic structure
- Identify and recall Coptic grammatical structures at elementary level
- Recognize and memorize foundational Coptic vocabulary
- Assess the grammar required for the translation of simple Coptic texts
- Explore relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools
- Recognize and recall linguistic metalanguage
- Integrate knowledge of grammar and vocabulary in reading and/or writing simple Coptic texts
Explore the significance of Coptic for the study of relevant ancient cultures

General Assessment Information

Submission and Extensions
Assignments are to be submitted online, using Turnitin. The examination will be closed book.

Extensions are available on medical grounds and may be requested under other special circumstances. Apply direct to the Convener.

Penalties for Late Submission
A penalty of 2% per day (including weekends) will be imposed for late submission of assessment tasks unless medical grounds or other special circumstances apply.

In-class tests (10)

Due: Weeks 4-13
Weighting: 25%

Tests recall of grammar and vocabulary through in-class testing. External students will be assessed online, via iLearn. Each equally weighted test (2.5% each) will consist of no more than 10 points of grammar taken from the previous lessons.

The purpose of short, frequent tests is to aid the memorising of key aspects of the language, in smaller chunks. This will help enormously in the segmentation of strings of language into meaningful units and will enable students to more quickly master the various points of grammar under study. Further, this continual reinforcement of knowledge will make it more rewarding to do the translation exercises each week and in the other forms of assessment.

The assessment criteria against which this task will be assessed are accuracy and completeness.

On successful completion you will be able to:
- Recognize and recall Coptic script and phonetic structure
- Identify and recall Coptic grammatical structures at elementary level
• Recognize and memorize foundational Coptic vocabulary
• Assess the grammar required for the translation of simple Coptic texts
• Recognize and recall linguistic metalanguage

Assignments (3)

Due: Weeks 6, 9, & 12
Weighting: 45%

The three assignments, equally weighted (15% each), will consolidate the grammar and vocabulary learned to the time when each assignment is set.

Students will be required to:

• translate passages of varying lengths and difficulty from Coptic into English;
• identify grammatical features of the text (subject, verbal construction, direct and indirect object);
• translate phrases and sentences from English into Coptic.

Assessments will be available electronically, 2 weeks before the deadline. Students must complete the assessments individually, without collaborating with others. Please note "Policies and Procedures" for University policy concerning academic honesty.

The assessment criteria against which this task will be assessed are accuracy, completeness, and control of appropriate terminology.

On successful completion you will be able to:

• Recognize and recall Coptic script and phonetic structure
• Identify and recall Coptic grammatical structures at elementary level
• Recognize and memorize foundational Coptic vocabulary
• Assess the grammar required for the translation of simple Coptic texts
• Explore relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools
• Recognize and recall linguistic metalanguage
• Integrate knowledge of grammar and vocabulary in reading and/or writing simple Coptic texts
• Explore the significance of Coptic for the study of relevant ancient cultures

Exam

Due: Exam period
Weighting: 30%

The exam is designed to bring together everything studied in the course and demonstrate an understanding of Coptic vocabulary and grammar. The exam will be divided into four sections:
1. Translation of passages, of varying lengths, from Coptic into English. These will include passages taken from the course material as well as unseen texts.

2. Identify specified grammatical features of the texts.

3. Write an extended answer on aspects of Coptic grammar and syntax: one question from three.

4. Translations of short sentences from English to Coptic.

The assessment criteria against which this task will be assessed are accuracy, completeness, control of grammatical terminology, and clarity of expression in open-ended questions.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Recognize and recall Coptic script and phonetic structure
- Identify and recall Coptic grammatical structures at elementary level
- Recognize and memorize foundational Coptic vocabulary
- Assess the grammar required for the translation of simple Coptic texts
- Explore relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools
- Recognize and recall linguistic metalanguage
- Integrate knowledge of grammar and vocabulary in reading and/or writing simple Coptic texts
- Explore the significance of Coptic for the study of relevant ancient cultures

Delivery and Resources

The course consists of a two-hour lecture and a one-hour tutorial each week. The tutorial will provide the opportunity to consolidate the information presented in the lecture and will comprises working through exercises from the text book (see ‘required reading below’) as a group.

Lectures and tutorials will be recorded and uploaded to Echo360 soon after class. Course notes will be uploaded to iLearn, as will the 3 assessments. The weekly class test will also be available on iLearn for external students.

Note: iLearn should be regularly consulted for updates, learning tools, and for participation in the discussion forum.

Required Reading

Further Reading

Other Sahidic grammars

As scholarly focus since the late 19th century has primarily been on Sahidic, there is a large body of teaching aids available for this dialect. The following list is not exhaustive, but lists the most important grammars.

Till, W., Koptische Dialektgrammatik, München 1961.

Dictionaries

At this point of learning Coptic it is not necessary to purchase one of the dictionaries listed below, although access to a dictionary will be necessary for the advanced study of Coptic. For the purposes of this unit, the dictionary given in Lambdin, Introduction to Sahidic Coptic, is quite sufficient. The most important dictionary below is Crum, W.E. Coptic Dictionary.

Coptic fonts

For the purposes of this course it is essential that you learn to type words in Coptic (or Greek). Most ancient language fonts – even if they are of the same language – have a different distribution of characters on the keyboard. So if members of the group use different fonts, this will lead to misunderstandings. The conveners suggest therefore that you download the public domain Coptic and Greek fonts “SPAchmim” and “SPIonic” and the Coptic and Greek Unicode font “New Athena Unicode”.

SPAchmim and SPIonic

They are available for both PC and Macintosh computers on the following website:
http://rosetta.reltech.org/TC/fonts/

Please take also note of the copyright notice on the website indicated. The fonts are available for a wide range of use, even for publication, however, commercial use is not permitted. They are accompanied by a .readme file which explains the keyboard distribution of the letters and diacritics (accents, punctuation marks). They are not professional fonts and do not give all the diacritics.

Alternatively, the fonts can be downloaded from the website of the Society for Biblical Literature:

New Athena Unicode

Students may also wish to download a Coptic Unicode font. One of these, New Athena Unicode, is available for both PC and Macintosh computers on the following website:

http://apagreekkeys.org/NAUdownload.html

For Coptic Unicode input (that is, keyboard layout), follow the directions provided at:

http://socrates.berkeley.edu/~pinax/coptic.html

Unit Schedule

Course Structure

Each week, there will be a 2-hour lecture (Tuesday) and a 1-hour tutorial (Thursday). The course material will be presented in the lecture and the tutorial will consist of exercise, undertaken as a group, that will reinforce the information learned in the lecture. Attendance at both the lecture and tutorial are compulsory.

Note: Under "Tutorial", "Lessons" refers to the chapters in T.O. Lambdin, Introduction to Sahidic Coptic.

Results
Results shown in iLearn, or released directly by your Unit Convenor, are not confirmed as they are subject to final approval by the University. Once approved, final results will be sent to your student email address and will be made available in eStudent. For more information visit ask.mq.edu.au.
Graduate Capabilities
Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Explore the significance of Coptic for the study of relevant ancient cultures

Assessment tasks

- Assignments (3)
- Exam
Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Recognize and memorize foundational Coptic vocabulary

Assessment tasks

- In-class tests (10)
- Assignments (3)
- Exam

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Recognize and recall Coptic script and phonetic structure
- Recognize and memorize foundational Coptic vocabulary
- Assess the grammar required for the translation of simple Coptic texts

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Recognize and recall Coptic script and phonetic structure
- Identify and recall Coptic grammatical structures at elementary level
- Recognize and memorize foundational Coptic vocabulary

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:
