LAW 314
Constitutional Law
S1 External 2015
Dept of Law

Contents

General Information 2
Learning Outcomes 3
Assessment Tasks 3
Delivery and Resources 5
Unit Schedule 5
Learning and Teaching Activities 6
Policies and Procedures 6
Graduate Capabilities 7
Changes since First Published 13

Disclaimer
Macquarie University has taken all reasonable measures to ensure the information in this publication is accurate and up-to-date. However, the information may change or become out-dated as a result of change in University policies, procedures or rules. The University reserves the right to make changes to any information in this publication without notice. Users of this publication are advised to check the website version of this publication [or the relevant faculty or department] before acting on any information in this publication.
General Information

Unit convenor and teaching staff
Unit Convenor
Iain Stewart
iain.stewart@mq.edu.au
Contact via iain.stewart@mq.edu.au
W3A 619
TBA

Joel Harrison
joel.harrison@mq.edu.au
Contact via joel.harrison@mq.edu.au
W3A 512
TBA

Iain Stewart
iain.stewart@mq.edu.au

Credit points
3

Prerequisites
6cp in LAW or LAWS units at 200 level including LAW214

Corequisites

Co-badged status

Unit description
This unit introduces students to fundamental principles of constitutional law and practice in Australia, including the basic structures of representative and responsible government, the structure and content of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Australia and the relationship between the Commonwealth and the States. The unit places constitutional principles and doctrines in a wider context by exploring some of the questions that arise in relation to the framework for law and government in Australia. These include: federalism; democracy and citizenship; the rule of law; parliamentary sovereignty; and the relationships among the legislative, executive and judicial powers.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates
Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- Understand the fundamental principles of constitutional theory and practice in Australia, including: introduction of British law to Australia, position and future of Indigenous Australian law, basic structures of representative and responsible government, structure and content of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Australia; relationship between the Commonwealth and the States; the rule of law; parliamentary sovereignty; relationships among the legislative, executive and judicial powers; and introduction of bills of rights.
- Assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of constitutional law arguments and defend, through critique and analysis, reasoned conclusions.
- Facilitate peer discussion by summarising and analysing central arguments within specific areas of constitutional law.
- Defend your conclusions and views before your peers through reasoned and supported argument.
- Critically examine constitutional law and its application to new contexts, in light of political and economic considerations as well as concerns for justice.

Assessment Tasks

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Weighting</th>
<th>Due</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Class Participation</td>
<td>10%</td>
<td>N/A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Essay 1</td>
<td>40%</td>
<td>Tue 21 April 2015</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Essay 2</td>
<td>50%</td>
<td>Tue 16 June 2015</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Class Participation

Due: N/A
Weighting: 10%

Listen to the previous week’s lecture, do the reading set for the tutorial in the following week, and at the OCS participate in discussion both in small groups and in the class as a whole.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand the fundamental principles of constitutional theory and practice in Australia, including: introduction of British law to Australia, position and future of Indigenous
Australian law, basic structures of representative and responsible government, structure and content of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Australia; relationship between the Commonwealth and the States; the rule of law; parliamentary sovereignty; relationships among the legislative, executive and judicial powers; and introduction of bills of rights.

- Assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of constitutional law arguments and defend, through critique and analysis, reasoned conclusions.
- Facilitate peer discussion by summarising and analysing central arguments within specific areas of constitutional law.
- Defend your conclusions and views before your peers through reasoned and supported argument.

Essay 1

Due: Tue 21 April 2015
Weighting: 40%

Issued: Monday 23 March 2015. Research essay on a topic from a set list, with a choice of questions. Length: six A4 pages - format to be detailed in the essay instructions. Essays must be submitted by the due time - extensions must be sought through an "Ask" application on the ground of disruption to studies. Essays must be submitted both through Turnitin (Macquarie Law School policy) and digitally to the Centre for Open Education (which will provide it in hard copy to the Law School). This duplication is necessary partly because of unreliability of Turnitin and partly because at least one marker will not be able to use GradeMark.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand the fundamental principles of constitutional theory and practice in Australia, including: introduction of British law to Australia, position and future of Indigenous Australian law, basic structures of representative and responsible government, structure and content of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Australia; relationship between the Commonwealth and the States; the rule of law; parliamentary sovereignty; relationships among the legislative, executive and judicial powers; and introduction of bills of rights.
- Assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of constitutional law arguments and defend, through critique and analysis, reasoned conclusions.
- Critically examine constitutional law and its application to new contexts, in light of political and economic considerations as well as concerns for justice.
Essay 2
Due: Tue 16 June 2015
Weighting: 50%

Issued: Monday 18 May 2015. Research essay on a topic from a set list, with a choice of questions. Length: eight A4 pages - format to be detailed in the essay instructions. Essays must be submitted by the due time - extensions must be sought through an "Ask" application on the ground of disruption to studies. Essays must be submitted both through Turnitin (Macquarie Law School policy) and digitally to the Centre for Open Education (which will provide it in hard copy to the Law School). This duplication is necessary partly because of unreliability of Turnitin and partly because at least one marker will not be able to use GradeMark.

On successful completion you will be able to:
• Understand the fundamental principles of constitutional theory and practice in Australia, including: introduction of British law to Australia, position and future of Indigenous Australian law, basic structures of representative and responsible government, structure and content of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Australia; relationship between the Commonwealth and the States; the rule of law; parliamentary sovereignty; relationships among the legislative, executive and judicial powers; and introduction of bills of rights.
• Assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of constitutional law arguments and defend, through critique and analysis, reasoned conclusions.
• Critically examine constitutional law and its application to new contexts, in light of political and economic considerations as well as concerns for justice.

Delivery and Resources
N/A

Unit Schedule

LECTURES
LECTURES WILL BEGIN IN WEEK 1: on Thursday 6 March. There will be 12 lectures. All lectures will begin at 5 minutes past the hour and finish at 5 minutes before the hour, and will have a 10-minute break in the middle. All lectures will be recorded in ECHO360 and ordinarily available online within half an hour after the end of the lecture.

ON-CAMPUS SESSION
External students are required to attend an On-Campus Session, 0900 to 1600 on Tuesday 7 and Wednesday 8 April. There will be two groups: the tutors will be Iain Stewart and Joel
Learning and Teaching Activities

Lectures
Lectures - hopefully interesting

Tutorials
The On-Campus Session - hopefully enjoyable

Policies and Procedures

Macquarie University policies and procedures are accessible from Policy Central. Students should be aware of the following policies in particular with regard to Learning and Teaching:

Academic Honesty Policy http://mq.edu.au/policy/docs/academic_honesty/policy.html
Disruption to Studies Policy http://www.mq.edu.au/policy/docs/disruption_studies/policy.html The Disruption to Studies Policy is effective from March 3 2014 and replaces the Special Consideration Policy.

In addition, a number of other policies can be found in the Learning and Teaching Category of Policy Central.

Student Code of Conduct

Macquarie University students have a responsibility to be familiar with the Student Code of Conduct: https://students.mq.edu.au/support/student_conduct/

Results

Results shown in iLearn, or released directly by your Unit Convenor, are not confirmed as they are subject to final approval by the University. Once approved, final results will be sent to your student email address and will be made available in eStudent. For more information visit ask.mq.edu.au.

Additional Macquarie Law School Policy on Assessment

In the absence of a successful application on the ground of disruption to studies, any assessment task submitted after its published deadline will not be graded and will receive a mark of zero.
Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of constitutional law arguments and defend, through critique and analysis, reasoned conclusions.
Defend your conclusions and views before your peers through reasoned and supported argument.

Critically examine constitutional law and its application to new contexts, in light of political and economic considerations as well as concerns for justice.

Assessment tasks

- Class Participation
- Essay 1
- Essay 2

Learning and teaching activities

- Lectures - hopefully interesting

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Understand the fundamental principles of constitutional theory and practice in Australia, including: introduction of British law to Australia, position and future of Indigenous Australian law, basic structures of representative and responsible government, structure and content of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Australia; relationship between the Commonwealth and the States; the rule of law; parliamentary sovereignty; relationships among the legislative, executive and judicial powers; and introduction of bills of rights.
- Assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of constitutional law arguments and defend, through critique and analysis, reasoned conclusions.

Learning and teaching activities

- The On-Campus Session - hopefully enjoyable

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Critically examine constitutional law and its application to new contexts, in light of political and economic considerations as well as concerns for justice.

Assessment tasks

- Class Participation
- Essay 1
- Essay 2

Learning and teaching activities

- The On-Campus Session - hopefully enjoyable

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Understand the fundamental principles of constitutional theory and practice in Australia, including: introduction of British law to Australia, position and future of Indigenous Australian law, basic structures of representative and responsible government, structure and content of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Australia; relationship between the Commonwealth and the States; the rule of law; parliamentary sovereignty; relationships among the legislative, executive and judicial powers; and introduction of bills of rights.
- Assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of constitutional law arguments and defend, through critique and analysis, reasoned conclusions.
- Facilitate peer discussion by summarising and analysing central arguments within specific areas of constitutional law.
- Defend your conclusions and views before your peers through reasoned and supported argument.
• Critically examine constitutional law and its application to new contexts, in light of political and economic considerations as well as concerns for justice.

Assessment tasks

• Class Participation
• Essay 1
• Essay 2

Learning and teaching activities

• Lectures - hopefully interesting
• The On-Campus Session - hopefully enjoyable

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

• Understand the fundamental principles of constitutional theory and practice in Australia, including: introduction of British law to Australia, position and future of Indigenous Australian law, basic structures of representative and responsible government, structure and content of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Australia; relationship between the Commonwealth and the States; the rule of law; parliamentary sovereignty; relationships among the legislative, executive and judicial powers; and introduction of bills of rights.

• Assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of constitutional law arguments and defend, through critique and analysis, reasoned conclusions.

• Facilitate peer discussion by summarising and analysing central arguments within specific areas of constitutional law.

• Defend your conclusions and views before your peers through reasoned and supported argument.

• Critically examine constitutional law and its application to new contexts, in light of political and economic considerations as well as concerns for justice.

Assessment tasks

• Class Participation
Learning and teaching activities

- Lectures - hopefully interesting
- The On-Campus Session - hopefully enjoyable

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of constitutional law arguments and defend, through critique and analysis, reasoned conclusions.
- Facilitate peer discussion by summarising and analysing central arguments within specific areas of constitutional law.
- Defend your conclusions and views before your peers through reasoned and supported argument.
- Critically examine constitutional law and its application to new contexts, in light of political and economic considerations as well as concerns for justice.

Assessment tasks

- Class Participation
- Essay 1
- Essay 2

Learning and teaching activities

- The On-Campus Session - hopefully enjoyable

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:
Learning outcomes

- Understand the fundamental principles of constitutional theory and practice in Australia, including: introduction of British law to Australia, position and future of Indigenous Australian law, basic structures of representative and responsible government, structure and content of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Australia; relationship between the Commonwealth and the States; the rule of law; parliamentary sovereignty; relationships among the legislative, executive and judicial powers; and introduction of bills of rights.
- Assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of constitutional law arguments and defend, through critique and analysis, reasoned conclusions.
- Facilitate peer discussion by summarising and analysing central arguments within specific areas of constitutional law.
- Defend your conclusions and views before your peers through reasoned and supported argument.

Assessment tasks

- Class Participation
- Essay 1
- Essay 2

Learning and teaching activities

- The On-Campus Session - hopefully enjoyable

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Understand the fundamental principles of constitutional theory and practice in Australia, including: introduction of British law to Australia, position and future of Indigenous Australian law, basic structures of representative and responsible government, structure and content of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Australia; relationship between the Commonwealth and the States; the rule of law; parliamentary sovereignty; relationships among the legislative, executive and judicial powers; and introduction of bills of rights.

- Assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of constitutional law arguments and defend, through critique and analysis, reasoned conclusions.
- Facilitate peer discussion by summarising and analysing central arguments within specific areas of constitutional law.
- Defend your conclusions and views before your peers through reasoned and supported argument.
- Critically examine constitutional law and its application to new contexts, in light of political and economic considerations as well as concerns for justice.

Learning and teaching activities

- The On-Campus Session - hopefully enjoyable

Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Critically examine constitutional law and its application to new contexts, in light of political and economic considerations as well as concerns for justice.

Changes since First Published

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>03/02/2015</td>
<td>Unit Schedule: On-Campus Session dates and venues altered to match changes in the 2015 draft Timetable.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>