Unit description

In this unit we examine a range of embodied subjects that stand in a relation of crisis and/or dissent in the context of dominant Australian culture. We focus specifically on how such apparatuses of racialised punishment as the camp, prison, reserve and detention centre have been constitutive in founding and shaping the Australian nation. We examine: Aboriginal sovereignty and the colonial camp; the cultural politics of terrorism and state violence; the power of whiteness; the racialisation of criminality and the prison industry; histories of political internment; and Australia's treatment of refugees and asylum seekers. These topics are examined through the lens of social justice and are situated in the context of film, documentaries and contemporary news media. The unit brings into focus the manner in which targeted communities have mobilised activist networks and a range of media in order to work toward social change and a more just society.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://students.mq.edu.au/important-dates.

Learning Outcomes

1. Demonstrate critical skills, informed by cultural theories, that will enable students to understand the ways in which the categories of nation and national identity are inscribed.
with a series of normative values that function to construct othered subjects that are disenfranchised and/or excluded from the official corpus of nation.

2. Develop the ability to synthesise and articulate the relations between knowledge and power in the context of nation.

3. Deploy analytical skills that enable students critically to evaluate institutions of authority in order to disclose such things as institutional racism and other discriminatory practices.

4. Develop ethical skills that will enable students to address issues of cultural difference and social justice concerns within the context of the Australian nation and its relation to global events and issues.

5. Deploy critical argumentation skills that will enable students to support and materially evidence their particular viewpoints on contentious national issues.

6. Employ cultural literacy skills that will enable students to address issues concerned with cultural difference in an informed manner.

7. Develop socially active and responsible skills that will, through group work presentations, enable students to analyse and solve problems collaboratively.

Presentation/on-course essay

Due: On assigned seminar date

Weighting: 30%

Oral presentation of a seminar paper based on the student’s chosen seminar topic: minimum 20 minutes presentation. Create a seminar presentation based on a chosen seminar topic. Discuss the key issues and arguments of the topic as outlined in the relevant readings. Illustrate your topic with reference to relevant news, videos, political events and so on. Students are required to:

1. address in detail the seminar topic;
2. evidence and illustrate arguments;
3. ask the class topic-related questions and generate discussion.

On-course essay based on the seminar paper that incorporates any relevant points and insights raised during class discussion; 1500 words in length.

https://unitguides.mq.edu.au/unit_offerings/47205/unit_guide/print
NB: The oral presentation is worth 15% and the on-course essay is worth 15%. Students will receive a combined mark out of 30%.

Seminar presentation to be presented on assigned seminar date; on-course essay to be submitted one week after seminar presentation

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

- Demonstrate critical skills, informed by cultural theories, that will enable students to understand the ways in which the categories of nation and national identity are inscribed with a series of normative values that function to construct othered subjects that are disenfranchised and/or excluded from the official corpus of nation.
- Develop the ability to synthesise and articulate the relations between knowledge and power in the context of nation.
- Deploy analytical skills that enable students critically to evaluate institutions of authority in order to disclose such things as institutional racism and other discriminatory practices.
- Develop ethical skills that will enable students to address issues of cultural difference and social justice concerns within the context of the Australian nation and its relation to global events and issues.
- Deploy critical argumentation skills that will enable students to support and materially evidence their particular viewpoints on contentious national issues.
- Employ cultural literacy skills that will enable students to address issues concerned with cultural difference in an informed manner.

Group Presentations

Due: Weekly seminar
Weighting: 20%

Each student will participate in weekly group presentations. In the second half of each class, students will break into groups. They will select two questions from the listed Seminar Questions and will proceed to discuss in the context of their selected groups the key issues and attempt to offer answers or solutions to the relevant problems. Each member of the group is expected to contribute to the discussion. The group will elect a spokesperson to present the groups findings.

Your group's presentation will be evaluated using the following criteria: clear and effective grasp of the key issues raised by the relevant readings; relevant evidence used to support and illustrate your arguments; creative and innovative address of the topic; posing of possible solutions with regard to the issues; representation of the group's multiple perspectives on the selected topic.
This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

- Demonstrate critical skills, informed by cultural theories, that will enable students to understand the ways in which the categories of nation and national identity are inscribed with a series of normative values that function to construct othered subjects that are disenfranchised and/or excluded from the official corpus of nation.
- Develop the ability to synthesise and articulate the relations between knowledge and power in the context of nation.

Final Essay

Due: Friday 12th June 2015
Weighting: 50%

A final essay in-lieu of an examination is the third part of this unit's assessment. The essay will be based on one of the assigned essay questions. In their essay, students must draw on the critical and theoretical material discussed in the lectures and provided in the Unit Reader.

NB: Do not write on the same topic that you used for your seminar presentation. Essay word length: 2000 words.

ESSAY QUESTIONS FOR FINAL ESSAY IN-LIEU OF EXAM

LENGTH: 2000 WORDS

DUE DATE: Friday 12th June 2015

N.B.: Do not reproduce the same topic you addressed in your seminar essay. There is no Turn-It-In submission for this unit.

- Discuss the issues of contested histories and space, colonial assimilation and the politics of Aboriginal identities in the context of Blackman’s Houses and Ian Anderson’s essay “Reclaiming Tru-ger-nan-ner.”
Discuss the significance of what Irene Watson calls “proper law-full acknowledgements of the sovereignty of Aboriginal peoples.”

Discuss the key attributes of “invisible whiteness” and ground your discussion in concrete historical and contemporary examples.

Discuss the concepts of Aboriginal law, colonial law and terra nullius in the context of Dhakiyarr vs the King.

Discuss the relation between colonial policing and racialised punishment in the context of contemporary Australian culture.

What are the key issues that emerge from the yoking of crime to ethnicity, and the consequent criminalisation of specific ethnic minorities? Discuss in the context of Collins et al’s essay, Of Middle Eastern Appearance and/or contemporary of racial profiling, policing and crime.

Discuss the importance of the camp, as a place of quarantine, internment and punishment of targeted groups, in the context of Australian history and national identity.

How is suburban space also a place where cultural politics is played out? Discuss in relation to ethnic architecture, backyards and their relation to issues of memory, identity and place.

Discuss the significance of Aboriginal “life writing” and oral histories in the context of Auntie Rita and dominant colonial histories.

Discuss the relationship between Indigenous sovereignty and white colonial possession in the context of Australia’s policies on refugees and asylum seekers.

Stage an in-depth critique of the politics of fear and terror.

Construct a question of your choice that focuses on a text and any of the issues raised in the course of this unit. Please consult with your tutor if you wish to take up this option.

Assignment submission

Bar-coded Arts Coversheet

Written work must be submitted through the boxes in the foyer of W6A. Internal students must print and attach a completed coversheet to all submitted work. A personalised assignment coversheet is generated from the student section of the Faculty of Arts website at:

Please provide your student details and click the Get my assignment coversheet button to generate your personalised assignment cover sheet. No other coversheets will be provided by the Faculty.

Return of marked work

Marked work will be returned to students via tutorials or lectures. Residuals will be available for collection from the Arts Student Centre (W6A Foyer) after the exam period.
Extensions and Disruption to Studies

- Penalties for late submission of work: 10% a day will be deducted from the mark of a tutorial essay for everyday of lateness after the due date, unless the student supplies relevant documentation justifying late submission.

- NB: Final essays are in-lieu of examinations, therefore late essays will not be marked unless you have made a formal application for Disruption to Studies with supporting documentation.

- FINAL ESSAYS THAT ARE SUBMITTED AFTER THE DUE DATE WILL RECEIVE A MARK OF ZERO, AND THE STUDENT WILL FAIL THE UNIT UNLESS THEY APPLY FOR DISRUPTION TO STUDIES AND SUPPLY RELEVANT DOCUMENTATION JUSTIFYING THE LATE SUBMISSION.

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

- Demonstrate critical skills, informed by cultural theories, that will enable students to understand the ways in which the categories of nation and national identity are inscribed with a series of normative values that function to construct othere[d subjects that are disenfranchised and/or excluded from the official corpus of nation.

UNIT REQUIREMENTS AND EXPECTATIONS

https://unitguides.mq.edu.au/unit_offers/47205/unit_guide/print
This unit will be taught through a combination of lectures, screenings and seminars. Each week, students will be required to relate the lecture material to relevant readings from the Unit Reader and prescribed texts. Students should use the set seminar questions to orient their reading of relevant materials.

Recordings of lectures and lecture notes will be available on iLearn.

All students are expected to contribute to seminar discussions and, as this is a unit that explicitly taps into topical issues in the context of the Australian nation, students are expected to follow current developments in government policy, the media, and so on, and to relate these developments to the issues under discussion.

Students are required: to attend all seminars; read the relevant readings from the Unit Reader; participate in class discussions; complete and submit all assessment tasks.

CLASSES

For lecture times and classes, please consult the MQ timetable website.

Suvendrini Perera, “Girt by Sea”

WEEK 3

Contested Histories and Aboriginal Sovereignties

Screening: “Black Man’s Houses"

Readings: Ian Anderson, “Re-claiming Tru-ger-nan-ner: Decolonizing the Symbol”

Irene Watson, “Aboriginal Sovereignties: Past, Present and Future (Im)Possibilities”

Murrawarri Republic, “Queen Recognises Murrawarri Republic”

1. Discuss what Anderson means when he says that Tru-ger-nan-ner signifies the “land empty of natives and the colonial period over.”

2. Discuss the problematic concepts of “authentic” and “hybrid” Aboriginals – with specific reference to Anderson’s essay and Blackman’s Houses.

3. What needs to be done in order to recognise Aboriginal sovereignties?

4. Discuss the political, legal and cultural ramifications of Irene Watson’s call for Aboriginal sovereignties.

WEEK 4

Whiteness

Readings: K. E. Supryia, “White Difference”

Ruth Frankenberg, “Thinking Through Race”

Anita Heiss, “Invisible Whiteness” and “My Best Friend is White”
1. How is whiteness “invisible”? What are the key attributes of whiteness?
2. How is whiteness about power, privilege and institutionality?
3. What does Frankeberg mean by the “colour and power evasiveness” of whiteness?
4. How does, according to Frankenberg, whiteness normalise race privilege?
5. How does Hiess make whiteness visible in her poems? What Black tactics does she deploy in order to counter-act white racism?

WEEK 5

The Racialisation of Punishment

Readings: Chris Cuneen, “The Nature of Colonial Policing”
Gerry Georgato, “The Burning Issue of Deaths in Custody: Aboriginal People Die 5 Times the Rate of Apartheid South Africa”
Natasha Robinson, “Black Sentences Soar as Juvenile Jails Become a ‘Storing House’”
Angela Davis, “Race and Criminalization”
Angela Davis, “The Prison Industrial Complex”

1. Discuss in detail the nature of colonial policing?
2. How does the history of colonial policing fundamentally inform contemporary relations between Aboriginals and the law?
3. According to Davis, what is the relation between race and the punishment industry? You must discuss, in particular, the connection between racialised minorities and the political economics of prisons.
4. Explain and discuss the “prison industrial complex” in the context of Australia’s Refugee Detention Centres.

WEEK 6

Aboriginal Law Versus Colonial Law

Readings: Irene Watson, “Buried Alive”

Screening: Dhakiyarr vs the King
1. Define the legal concept of terra nullius and discuss in detail its impact on Australia’s Indigenous peoples.

2. Discuss Watson’s understanding of Aboriginal law and how it differs from European law.

3. How does white common law ensure the reproduction of colonial possession of the continent of Australia?

4. Discuss the collision of Aboriginal law and white colonial law in the context of Dhakiyarr vs the King.

5. WEEK 7

The Racialisation of Crime and Cultural Panics

Readings: Jock Collins et al, “Crime and Ethnicity in Australia: Myths and Realities”

Scott Pointing et al, “The Arab Other”

David Fraser et al, “Violence Against Arab Australians”

1. What is problematic about the ethnic descriptor “of Middle Eastern appearance” as used by both the police and the media?

2. Discuss the relationship between issues of class, gender and ethnicity in Of Middle Eastern Appearance.

3. Discuss the role of government and the media in creating cultural panics about “ethnic crime” and “ethnic gangs.”

4. Explain what is at stake in the use of qualifiers like the term “ethnic” in the discussion of crime and criminal behaviour.

MID-SEMESTER BREAK: 3 to 20 April

WEEK 8: READING WEEK: NO CLASSES 20 to 24 April

WEEK 9

The Camp and Histories of Internment

David Mitchell and Sharon Snyder, “The Eugenic Atlantic: Disability and the Making of an International Science”

“William Cooper: The Aboriginal Who Stood up to Hitler”

Osvaldo Bonuto, “‘J’accuse’: Internment”

1. Discuss the importance of the camp in the construction of the nation, its aliens and its borders, with reference to the Perera and Palombo essays.
2. What is the relation between 9/11 and the internment of aliens during World War II?
3. Discuss the use of science by politicians and the military in the internment and eventual extermination of people with disabilities in the context of the Nazi death camps, with reference to the Mitchell and Snyder essays.
4. What are the key issues that Bonuto’s story of internment exposes?
5. Discuss the contemporary interment of aliens (eg, refugees, people of “Middle Eastern appearance,” and the prisoners at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba).

WEEK 10

The Cultural Politics of Suburban Space and Ethnic Architecture

Mirjana Lozanovka, “Abjection and Architecture: The Migrant House in Multicultural Australia”

Said and Souad Lahoud “It’s In the Blood: Culture and Identity and Their Suburban Backyard”

Joseph Puggliese, “Migrant Heritage in an Indigenous Context”

1. What is the relation between migrant architecture, hegemonic concepts of nation/identity and abjection?
2. Discuss the dismissal of migrant architecture, house styles and decoration in terms of “kitsch.” Examine the value system operating in these acts of condescension.
3. How is the suburban backyard a site of resistance and a refuge against assimilation ideologies?
4. How is the home “a place for the body, a place for life?” Discuss in detail.
5. Discuss the significance of locating migrant heritage within an Indigenous context.
WEEK 11

“Fighting with Our Tongues”: Indigenous Life Writings

Readings: Jackie Huggins, selections from Auntie Rita

Tess Allas, “A Stitch in Time”

William Ferguson and John Patten, “Cries from the Heart: Aborigines Claim Citizen Rights!”

Aileen Moreton-Robinson, “Tellin’ It Straight: Self-Representation within Indigenous Women’s Life Writings”

Jackie Huggins, “Auntie Rita’s File”

Anita Heiss, “Indigenous Writing and Identity”

1. Discuss the importance of the oral history genre in Auntie Rita.

2. Discuss the significance of the narrative weave of two voices in Auntie Rita.

3. What is the relationship between “life writing” and dominant histories as dramatised in Auntie Rita and as discussed by Heiss and Moreton-Robinson?

4. Discuss the history of white women’s role in the colonial subjugation of Aboriginals.

5. What are the tactics of resistance against colonial power as articulated by both Huggins and Moreton-Robinson?

WEEK 12

At the Border: Australia’s Refugees and Asylum Seekers

Screening: “The Man Who Jumped”

Ray Jackson, “An Open Letter to Kevin Rudd MP”

Ray Jackson, “Indigenous Leader to Asylum Seekers: ‘You are Welcome Here’”

Bianca Hall, “Overwhelming Majority of Boat Arrivals Deemed to Be Refugees”

Maria Giannacopoulos, “Tampa: Violence at the Border”

1. Discuss the historical roots of white Australia’s fear of “alien invasions.”

2. Discuss the relation between Indigenous sovereignty, white colonial possession and Australia’s
3. How does the mandatory imprisonment of refugees and asylum seekers contravene Human Rights (as outlined by UN charters)?

4. Discuss the ethnicity of the refugees and asylum seekers imprisoned in Australian prisons.

5. How can the mandatory imprisonment of refugees be seen as another form of racialised punishment? Relate this to Angela Davis’ thesis on the racialised punishment industry and Australia’s use of the private company ACM to manage the prisons.

6. Discuss the role of law in the construction and maintenance of a regime of penal asylum for refugees and asylum seekers.

WEEK 13

The Politics of Fear and Terror

Readings: Goldie Osuri: “Regimes of Terror: Contesting the War on Terror”
Joseph Pugliese, “Asymmetries of Terror”
Suvendrini Perera, “Race Terror, Sydney, December 2005”

All three essays are in Borderlands ejournal available at:
http://www.borderlandsejournal.adelaide.edu.au/issues/vol5no1.html

1. Discuss the parallels between contemporary political uses of fear and terror and the historical period of the Cold War.
2. What is at stake in the government and media fostering of a politics of fear and terror?
3. Why must the concept of “terrorism” be thought outside of eurocentric discourses and what is so often left unaddressed in western discussions of terrorism?
4. What needs to be done in order to begin to dismantle regimes of fear and terror?

Graduate Capabilities

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills
Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

• Demonstrate critical skills, informed by cultural theories, that will enable students to understand the ways in which the categories of nation and national identity are inscribed with a series of normative values that function to construct othered subjects that are disenfranchised and/or excluded from the official corpus of nation.

• Deploy analytical skills that enable students critically to evaluate institutions of authority in order to disclose such things as institutional racism and other discriminatory practices.

• Develop ethical skills that will enable students to address issues of cultural difference and social justice concerns within the context of the Australian nation and its relation to global events and issues.

• Deploy critical argumentation skills that will enable students to support and materially evidence their particular viewpoints on contentious national issues.

• Employ cultural literacy skills that will enable students to address issues concerned with cultural difference in an informed manner.
Assessment tasks

- Presentation/on-course essay
- Group Presentations
- Final Essay

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Demonstrate critical skills, informed by cultural theories, that will enable students to understand the ways in which the categories of nation and national identity are inscribed with a series of normative values that function to construct othered subjects that are disenfranchised and/or excluded from the official corpus of nation.
- Develop the ability to synthesise and articulate the relations between knowledge and power in the context of nation.

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.
This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Develop the ability to synthesise and articulate the relations between knowledge and power in the context of nation.
- Deploy analytical skills that enable students critically to evaluate institutions of authority in order to disclose such things as institutional racism and other discriminatory practices.
- Deploy critical argumentation skills that will enable students to support and materially evidence their particular viewpoints on contentious national issues.
- Employ cultural literacy skills that will enable students to address issues concerned with cultural difference in an informed manner.
- Develop socially active and responsible skills that will, through group work presentations, enable students to analyse and solve problems collaboratively.

Assessment tasks

- Presentation/on-course essay
- Group Presentations
- Final Essay

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Develop the ability to synthesise and articulate the relations between knowledge and power in the context of nation.
- Deploy critical argumentation skills that will enable students to support and materially evidence their particular viewpoints on contentious national issues.

Assessment tasks

- Group Presentations
- Final Essay

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Develop the ability to synthesise and articulate the relations between knowledge and power in the context of nation.
- Deploy critical argumentation skills that will enable students to support and materially evidence their particular viewpoints on contentious national issues.
- Employ cultural literacy skills that will enable students to address issues concerned with cultural difference in an informed manner.
- Develop socially active and responsible skills that will, through group work presentations, enable students to analyse and solve problems collaboratively.

Assessment tasks

- Presentation/on-course essay
- Group Presentations
- Final Essay

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Develop ethical skills that will enable students to address issues of cultural difference and social justice concerns within the context of the Australian nation and its relation to global events and issues.
- Employ cultural literacy skills that will enable students to address issues concerned with cultural difference in an informed manner.
